Secretary Marshall Testifying For Fifth Day In Probe

Marshall Says Russia's Entry In War Possible

Says More Danger Of Entry In Korea Than Europe Attack

By JAMES LEE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Defense Secretary Marshall declared today that the possibility of Russia entering the Korean War is "more acute" than the prospect of a Soviet attack in Europe.

Marshall made the statement as he resumed testimony for the fifth day before the joint Senate committee investigating the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur.

The secretary was asked again by Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, why he did not favor bombing Manchurian bases. Marshall replied:

"The principal difference that I see in the matter is that we have an issue there (in the Far East) that is very critical to the Soviet Union in that they now are in complete accord with the Chinese Communist government so far as they have a treaty of accord.

"That is being imperiled, I would assume, and my associates have assumed, by what is happening to the Communist forces in Korea.

Situation More Acute

"Therefore, the situation as to the possible actions of the Soviet government is a more acute one by far than that in Western Europe because if they lose a close community of interests and cooperative arrangement with China at this time, that would be a very great loss to them of something they now possess."

Hickenlooper sharply disagreed

Would Bar Marshall Funds To Countries Aiding Reds

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Senate asked the House today to forbid Marshall plan aid to any country selling goods to iron curtain countries.

The request was in the form of a rider attached to the 430 million dollar third supplemental appropriations. The rider cutting aid to countries dealing with Soviet Russia and her satellites as offered by Sen. Kem (R) Mo., and accepted unanimously by the Senate.

The appropriations measure has already been approved by the House and awaits only a favorable House-Senate conference report for passage.

The amendment is aimed at western European nations which not only have been selling war usable commodities to Russia, but sending strategic materials to Red China for use against United Nations forces.

The bill also took another slap

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Much attention is being attracted to a circular bed of red tulips on a front lawn in the 600 block of East Washington street, near West avenue.

Repairing of the broken pilaster on the east end of the Diamond was being done by city repairmen this morning. The stones were knocked down by an erring motorist several days ago. Frequent replacement of the ornamental pilaster is required by the workmen.

Truckers not too careful in parking their delivery vehicles in the downtown section cause quite a traffic bottleneck at times, it is observed by Pa Newc. Pa Newc notes that where a parking space exists, many times the trucker parks in the cartway rather than park the vehicles properly, causing quite a traffic snarl. A few minutes more would avoid a jam in the business section.

Trimming back of shrubbery at intersections in the city, would be a big help to traffic and help prevent accidents during the summer months, Pa Newc suggests. High hedges are a menace when located on busy corners where much traffic passes in residential sections.

* * *

Coming weekend, if the weather is agreeable, should bring out an avalanche of motorists on district highways. Fruit tree blossoms and other blooming shrubbery should be at their finest and will be admired by thousands in their travels. Observance of Mothers Day should also swell the tarffic as mothers are honored Sunday, May 13.

Ceiling Prices Ordered Posted By New Order

Thousands Of Businesses Placed Under Controls

By FREEMAN FULBRIGHT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Thousands of everyday services such as laundry, dry cleaning, haircuts and shoe repairs were placed today under new government controls which require posting of ceiling prices.

No "substantial" changes in present prices are expected to result from the order because the regulation retains the same base period as the general price freeze —Dec. 19-Jan. 25.

Effective May 16

That means maximum legal prices for the affected services will be the highest charged during that period. The new order is effective May 16.

The new controls went into effect as the government began a crackdown on cattle slaughterers who failed to register with the OPS. Meat price enforcement chief Marvin Willig said he expects to uncover between 2,500 and 5,000 class II slaughterers who are operating against the law.

President Truman served notice yesterday that beef price ceilings will be enforced despite what he called the "screams" of cattlemen.

Emergency Law Extends Aid To Korea Veterans

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—President Truman is certain to sign into law, emergency-passed legislation extending veterans' medical and hospital benefits to veterans of the Korean conflict.

The hastily-drawn bill sailed through both the House and Senate without opposition hours after the President wrote Vice President Barkley and house speaker Rayburn (D) Tex., about the plight of Korean veterans.

The need came to public attention yesterday morning when news services carried the story of David R. Arellano, 21, of Tucson, Ariz., who was denied admittance to the Tucson Veterans hospital.

Arellano, a Korean war veteran who needs treatment for cancer, could not be admitted because Congress had enacted no legislation providing hospital and medical care to Korean veterans for non-service-connected ailments.

As passed, the legislation extends hospital, medical, compensation and pension benefits of World War II to persons in service after June 27, 1950, when the Korean war began.

Draft Board Of County Ordered To Send Ten Men

County Board No. 86, of the Selective Service system, has been ordered to furnish ten men for induction in the May call. These men have been ordered to report on May 24.

No orders have as yet been received by City Board 87, but orders are expected momentarily.

No physical examinations were ordered for either board this month, announcement of which was made previously.

Holy Name Men Over 1200 Strong To Rally Sunday

St. Mary's Society Will Observe 41st Anniversary Event

The complete ancient ritual of the Roman Catholic church will be carried out in all it's beauty, splendor and fullness on Sunday morning, May 13, at 8, when the St. Mary's Holy Name society, over 1,200 strong, will march into St. Mary church on Beaver street to inaugurate the opening of the forty-first anniversary of it's founding.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Francis J. Schwendeman, S.Th.D., J.C.D., will preside over the Sanctuary, The Rev. Francis M. McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church will be celebrant of the Solemn High Mass of Thanksgiving, "Coram Monsignore," assisted by Rev. Francis P. King, spiritual director and moderator of the Holy Name society as deacon; and the Rev. Albert A. Goralka, also of St. Mary's as sub-deacon. Edward J. Nolte will serve as junior master of ceremonies.

Three Choirs To Sing Mass

The Senior male choir under the direction of Joseph DeVivo with Mrs. Wanda Gianonne at the console of the church great organ, will render the very beautiful but difficult polyphonic Mass of Franz Gruber, composed in honor of St. Joan De Arc.

The Senior male choir will be assisted by the Boy soprano and concert choirs whose voices will be blended with the chancel organ of the sanctuary and played from the choir organ console.

The offertory hymn will be the ancient "Ave Maria" by W. J. Womelink, sung by a special Male Octette which will furnish the beautiful obligato to the bass solo for which the well beloved hymn is so well renowned.

The Very Reverend Patrick Kevin Connelly, C.P., Ph.D., rector of the Passionist Seminary and clericate of Jamaica, Long Island, N. Y., will deliver the sermon at

U.S., Britain, France Foreign Ministers Expected To Meet

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—A full dress meeting of the foreign ministers of the U. S., Britain and France appears certain today, whatever the outcome of the big four deputies talks in Paris.

Secretary of State Acheson practically wrote off the possibility of a meeting of the big four foreign ministers earlier this week. He indicated that the western powers had made their last possible concession to Russia at the Paris meetings. The deputies have been trying for more than ten weeks to develop a basis for discussion of the big four foreign ministers.

KOREA—Soldier symbols on the map show where retreating Red armies turned and fought all along the 100-mile Korean front against pursing United Nations forces. Heaviest fighting raged around Kapyong-Chunchon area in central Korea. Enemy concentrations there indicated that Communist commanders would launch main thrusts of the spring offensive's second round from that sector. Shaded arrows show natural invasion routes one cutting behind Seoul's defenders, the other splitting South Korea right down the middle.

Dewey Assails President's Dismissal Of MacArthur

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey last night sharply criticized President Truman's "shabby" dismissal of General MacArthur and demanded that the United States adopt "clear and strong" policies to deal with Communism in Asia.

He urged the administration to "press for their acceptance by our friends and allies."

The Republican leader addressed the New York state Republican committee at a $100-a-plate dinner and declared:

Sick Of Blunders

"The American people are sick and tired of the national administration's blunders in foreign policy, from Potsdam on one side of the world to China on the other."

He also rapped "the administration's politics-as-usual—or should I say its more-politics-than-ever, its frightening incompetence and its continued waste of billions of dollars every year.

"But one thing our people will not suffer patiently," Dewey added, "is the midnight dismissal of a great American who has served his country for 50 years—without notice of the charges against him and without even a hearing."

"Tragic Blunder"

Five-Year Prison Term Is Given To Jas. J. Moran

Convicted On Charge Of Perjury In Trial In New York

(BULLETIN)

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS)—James J. Moran, fromer New York deputy fire commissioner and friend of Ambassador William O'Dwyer, was sentenced to a maximum term of five years in prison and fined $2,000 today for lying to the Kefauver crime investigating committee.

Moran, a close associate of O'Dwyer when the now ambassador to Mexico was New York's mayor, was convicted Tuesday of Perjury in denying that Brooklyn policy racketeer Louis Weber had visited his fire department office no more than six times between 1946 and 1950.

Four fire department receptionists, who appeared as government witnesses, testified before a federal grand jury that they ushered Weber into Morans' office more than 100 times in that period.

Named By O'Dwyer

Shortly before O'Dwyer resigned to accept his ambassadorial job, he appointed Moran to the $15,000-a-year "lifetime" post of New York water commissioner. It was that role Moran testified during the Kefauver hearings. He quit the Armed Forces Week Plans Are Now Complete

Final Meeting Of Committee Is Held

Armed Forces Week plans were completed at a meeting of the general committee, held in The Castleton, Thursday evening, with Howard W. Lyon, general chairman, presiding.

The celebration locally will get under way on Sunday, when the various churches of the city and county have been asked to call attention to the valor of our fighting men, of both the army and navy.

Then on Thursday evening, the state championship band, of Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion will stage a band concert in front of the Legion Home, at 7:30 o'clock.

General To Speak

On Friday, there will be a luncheon meeting of all service clubs, when Brigadier General Frederick R. Dent, Jr., U.S.A.F., will be the speaker. This will take place in The Castleton.

The week's observance will be climaxed with a gigantic street parade starting at 7 o'clock, Saturday evening, May 19, which is Armed Forces Day.

Indications point to the fact that the parade will equal or eclipse last year's Armistice Day parade. Six local bands, including the Senior High and American Legion

Resistance Of Enemy Grows In Some Areas

Swarms Of Planes Blast At Enemy Concentration Points

(BULLETIN)

TOKYO, May 12.—(Saturday)—(INS)—United Nations forces entered the key junction town of Inje in east central Korea Friday, regaining the eastern anchor of a line they held before the Communist spring offensive began last month.

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, May 11.—Allied ground and air forces smashed heavily today at Red troops massing on both flanks of Korea's central sector for an expected attempt to split the United Nations front down the middle.

Swarms of planes blasted Chinese and North Korean buildup concentrations in the west-central and east-central area as the U. S. Fifth Air Force hurled 600 sorties against the enemy Friday.

Making Resistance

UN tank-infantry patrols simultaneously lashed at Communist screen forces which offered hardened resistance at many points along the cross-peninsula front. In a few other areas, however, the Reds made new withdrawals.

The west-central sector around Kapyong, northeast of Seoul, was the scene of the biggest enemy buildup.

But large new Red concentrations were also spotted in the east-central area. This suggested a possible enemy plan to push down around both sides of aband-

Open House Saturday At Both Hospitals

Open house will be observed at both the Jameson Memorial and New Castle hospitals Saturday, May 12, in observance of National Hospital Day.

These hospitals are two of the twelve Red Feather agencies of the Community Chest of New Castle and vicinity. Each October the Chest's campaign raises funds to help operate these hospitals.

Citizens are urged by hospital directors and Community Chest President A. H. Gonick to take this opportunity to visit their hospitals.

Visitors will not only have the opportunity to inspect the hospital facilities, but also to view the work being done to increase the services of both institutions by additional building.

Hours of the Open House will be from 2-4 and 7-9 at both hospitals, it is announced.

Discuss Possibility Of U.S. Housing Project Here

Possibilities of a government housing project in New Castle are seen as the result of a conference between the county commissioners and city administration Thursday afternoon in the court house.

County Commissioner Joseph F. Travers told the conference that the Public Housing Administration had asked that the authorities here refrain from selling delinquent tax property in the third ward and the first ward with the idea that low rental government housing units could be built there.

No Commitments

No definite commitments were made by either of tthe two bodies at the conference. They did agree that the lots in the two wards would be withdrawn from public sale and that the idea of public housing would be investigated.

Mr. Travers said the PHA would build housing units on long term financing and that rents on the units would be controlled. If and when built, the housing units would be under the supervision of the Lawrence County Housing Authority.

Mayor John F. Haven said he was not opposed to public housing units being built but wanted to know how much tax money would be lost to the city, county and school district. He said he understood that in some of the housing projects, the units paid but little tax, but the residents were entitled to all the rights of other citizens, such as police and fire protection, school facilities, garbage collection and the like.

There's something new in headdress on the streets, just now, a host of lads and lasses wearing dinks, they're red and white in different combinations, and rather snappy skimmers so methinks. They indicate the standing of the wearers, they're seniors now, about to finish high school in a while, and gravely they appear in their adornment, and as I see those dinks I have to smile. Maj. Gen. Riley Is Confident He Can Restore Peace

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 11. (INS)—Maj. Gen. William E. Riley, U.N. chief of staff in Palestine, expressed confidence today he will succeed in restoring and maintaining peace between Syria and Israel.

The U.S. Marine Corps veteran, who leaves Sunday for the Holy Land to resume active command of the U.N. truce observation team, declared at Lake Success:

"I believe it is possible to find a solution to the difficult problem that faces Syria and Israel in connection with the fighting which has broken out in the demilitarized zone established under the armistice agreement of July 1949.

"Information at hand at present indicates that both parties have accepted the Security Council's cease-fire resolution and are waiting for an opportunity to discuss the questions at issue."

oned Chunchon and drive a wedge between the UN forces in the west and those in the east.

Northeast of Chunchon, which lies 45 miles northeast of Seoul, the invaders were expanding their Soyang river bridgehead, a Friday night field dispatch said.

Planes Hammer Enemy

Farther east, allied planes pounded an enemy buildup southsoutheast of Yanggu with "good results," the U. S. Eighth Army said in its Friday night communique.

The bulletin said that UN ground forces followed the air strike with a further advance against "moderate resistance".

Despite their buildup southsoutheast of Yanggu, the Reds were reported abandoning that North Korean road center, seven miles above parallel 38. Yanggu lies at the east end of the huge Hwachon reservoir.

A late dispatch said North Korean troops also were withdrawing from Inje, a key highway junction 11 miles southeast of Yanggu and four miles north of the 38th parallel which marks the artificial border between South and North Korea.

The field message said an ROK (Republic of Korea) company entered Inje unopposed Friday after the South Koreans had seized a strategic commanding height just east of the town in a savage hand-to-hand battle Thursday.

West of the Chunchon axis, Chinese troops shifted their main weight eastward from the area northwest of Seoul, massing most of their strength around Kapyong.

The tricolor became the flag of France when the Marquis de Lafayette brought about its adoption in 1789.

Foreign Policy

"No appeasement of Communism—no retreat anywhere in the world."

Refusal by the United States to recognize Communist China and use of the veto if necessary to keep her out of the U. N.

Pledge that Formosa will not be permitted to fall into Communist hands.

House Committee Favors Tax Boost On Wines, Liquors

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—The House Ways and Means committee today voted to increase taxes on liquor, beer and wine by a quarter-billion dollars a year.

The committee boosted excise levies on liquor by 167 million dollars, beer by 68 million dollars, and wine by eight an one-half million dollars.

In addition, it increased the cost of the occupational tax stamp that must be purchased by retail liquor dealers from $27.50 to $50 a year. This will bring in an additional seven million dollars annually.

past—the big four would meet in Washington at an early date. In that event the three western powers presumably would get together beforehand to discuss a future course.

If, as seems more likely, the Paris meeting proves a failure, the necessity for big three conferences on a high level will become imperative.

Then they will have to assess the world situation in the light of Moscow's refusal to compromise on any issue. This presumably would call for the hastening of defense production and distribution and the training of Europe's armies.

DISCUSS POSSIBILITY OF U.S. HOUSING PROJECT HERE

was called and asked what taxes the Ellwood City housing units paid. He said taxes were paid approximately upon a basis of ten per cent of the county's assessment. However, the government had done considerable work in building roads into the units and other improvements which were taken into consideration.

As the matter stands now the city and county agree to hold the building lots the PHA is considering for housing units. If and when a definite offer is made to build further action will be had.

The offer of the Public Housing Administration apparently comes as the result of considerable spade work done by the Greater New Castle Association.

In past weeks the GNCA Executive Vice President Eben L. Reid has met with the Real Estate Board, the Ministerial Association, and the city council. The matter of a housing shortage has been explored rather thoroughly and the PHA asked to send a man into the city to explain the plan under which government housing can be obtained.

A representative of the PHA is expected to come to New Castle shortly.

DEPOSED HEAD OF PANAMA UNDER ARREST

pointed a new cabinet that included representatives of five leading political parties.

A full military funeral was planned for two national police officers, Major Alfredo Gomez and Lieut. Juan Florez, killed in the palace fighting.

The pitched battle at the palace where Arias and his supporters barricaded themselves climaxed two days of rioting and violence in which at least 200 persons were wounded in addition to the 11 killed.

Voted Out Of Office

Arias, who had assumed dictorial powers by suspending the 1946 constitution late Monday, was voted out of office by the National Assembly on Wednesday. But he refused to yield to his successor, First Vice-President, Alcibiades Arosemena.

The impeachment of Arias was upheld yesterday by the Supreme Court and Col. Jose Antonio Remon, national police chief, ordered his forces to move on the presidential palace.

The national police fought for more than four hours against the secret police of Arias and other supporters of the deposed president who had ignored an ultimatum to surrender.

CEILING PRICES ORDERED POSTED

sonal and commercial services of more than a million establishments are covered by the new regulation.

Additional thousands of amusement and recreational facilities and industrial services with an unestimated volume of business also are affected.

The services include beauticians, auto, radio and household appliance repairs, tailor shops, parking lots and filling stations, checking accounts, bowling alleys, skating rinks and golf fees, and admission to amusement parks.

Establishments must post their ceiling prices in a "prominent" spot and file a copy of them with OPS district offices.

The regulation contains a provision for determination of ceiling prices for seasonal services.

Transportation services of contract carriers are excepted, as are hospital services and service charges for theater tickets.

MARSHALL SAYS RUSSIA'S ENTRY IN WAR POSSIBLE

that this was a reason for not bombing supply bases of the Chinese Communists. The senator declared:

"It seems to me that if the Soviet interest is so much in accord with that of the Communist Chinese, that that interest would dicate that they would see the Communist Chinese through to victory in spite of anything . . .

"And if we continue as we are in Korea and the Communist Chinese face what may seem to be certain defeat, under that policy, then by that same argument the Russians are going to come in anyway to save them from that defeat."

'Matter of Judgement'

Marshall conceded that the issue is "of course bound to be a matter of judgement." He added:

"On my part, particularly the reactions and the views of the chiefs of staff, there are decided technical involvements as to possibilities one way or the other, and there is the particular issue that you have just been discussing with me."

Marshall reaffirmed his view that in taking action in Western Europe, this country "felt we had no choice but to proceed as we did unless we allowed that region to go by default to Communist domination."

He said that "was not similar to the present situation we are in."

The secretary continued:

"Here is a situation where the Chinese can be brought to feel, by continued highly destructive losses, that the Soviets have let them down. Therefore the situation is more dangerous now that is the general view we have taken."

Begins Day's Testimony

The secretary began his fifth day of testimony in the closed hearing at 10:05 a.m. (EDT).

Members of the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees said they expected further disclosures on American plans for ending the Korea War.

They quoted Marshall as saying that the Communist enemy lost 50 men to every casualty suffered by the United Nations forces in the last Red offensive.

They declined to disclose the exact numbers because that is still "classified" information but they said the ratio is staggering.

A senator stressed that the committee was informed that the "one" in the ratio did not even reflect American losses but referred to the UN forces.

Some committeemen said they drew the implication from Marshall's testimony that the secretary is hopeful a Korean armistice might not be too far distant.

However, others said that while that impression might be drawn from Marshall's first four days on the stand, the secretary actually said nothing concrete on which to base such a conclusion.

band, as well as other school bands, will participate, along with the Second Army's crack military band, and Grove City's famous Kiltie Band.

One of the features will be a float division, over seven floats having already been entered, with more expected.

The observance will be wound up with a dance in the Ecclesian club.

water commissionership a short time later when he was given an ultimatum by Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri to get out.

Moran's case was the first conviction stemming from the disclosures made by the Kefauver committee.

Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey of Des Moines, Ia., ruled that Moran can remain free in $25,000 bail pending an appeal. The jurist allowed Moran's freedom over vigorous objections of assistant U. S. attorney Eugene Roth who demanded the former official be remanded to jail at once.

at administration foreign policy by upholding the House cut in Voice of America funds from 97.5 millions to 9.5 millions.

The bill as it passed the Senate gives the civil defense administration 84 million dollars, but eliminates the 250 millions which the administration sought for use as contributions on a matching basis to local and state governments that build bomb shelters.

The Senate also knocked out the 100 million dollar standby emergency fund which the House bill would set up. The administration has asked for 403 millions.

Warner Brothers Decide Not To Sell Movie Empire

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS)—A sentimental attachment to the tremendous business they spent most of their lives building up was given by the three Warner Brothers today as the reason they have decided not to sell their movie empire.

Negotiations were under way for sale of the Warner Brothers' firm for a reported $26,000,000.

But Harry Warner, president of the movie company, announced that he and his brothers, Albert and Jack, at the last moment decided they "could not withdraw from the great undertaking which had been so vital a part of our lives."

The Warners' change of heart brought to an abrupt end two days of meetings with Louis R. Lurie, San Francisco financier and real estate operator, who headed a syndicate which had offered to buy the Warners' 24 per cent stock interest in the film company.

WIMODAUSIS ENJOYS GUEST DAY LUNCHEON

About 300 members and guests shared in the festivities when members of Wimodausis held their annual "Guest Day" luncheon in the main dining room of the Cathedral Wednesday afternoon.

Tables were beautifully decorated with a variety of spring garden flowers in an assortment of colored containers, flanked with white candles in crystal holders.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. A. Stritmater, Mrs. George Lyon, Mrs. Harry A. Boyd and Mrs. William Ayers. In charge of the dining room were Mrs. Lawrence Gibson, Mrs. George Shaffer, Mrs. Charles Gray, Mrs. H. A. Shaffer, Mrs. Sara McCartney and Mrs. George Houston.

The meeting opened in the East Lodge room with Mrs. M. M. Ingham, acting president, in charge, due to the illness of Mrs. Walter Gilmore, who is improving.

Mrs. Wilfred Thomas, program chairman, introduced C. Reizenstein of Pittsburgh, who displayed china and glassware and spoke of "Facts and Fancies of China".

The next meeting of the club will be held at Cascade park on June 13, in the form of a family picnic, with Mrs. W. H. Hood and Mrs. William Davis to be in charge. The next regular club meeting will be held in the fall.

BETA SIGMA PHI TO HAVE INSTALLATION

Members of the Pennsylvania Epsilon chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will hold installation of officers at the next regular meeting on Wednesday evening, May 16, in the green room of the YWCA.

Officers elected at the business meeting Wednesday evening following banquet, to replace those who have resigned are: recording secretary, Mrs. Erma McCormick, and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wayne Hassig. Mrs. George Getty will be installed as extension officer to have charge of Nu Phi Mu transfers and the forming of new chapters.

Exemplar Day will be observed on May 15 when all eligible members will be installed.

Happy Group Club

Mrs. Sam Tomassello, Jr., East Main street, received the Happy Group club Thursday evening in her home.

Tables of cards were in play, high score prizes going to Mrs. Frank Bordonaro and Dorothy Latimer. The club token was won by Mrs. Henry DiGiacomo. Special guest attending was Dorothy Latimer, and she received a lovely gift.

Later the hostess served a dainty lunch, with the assistance of the members.

May 24 is the meeting with Mrs. Joseph Chiurazzi of Front street.

DR. BARNES SPEAKS TO COLLEGE CLUB

College club members assembled at a suburban inn for their yearly dinner party and business meeting. Places were arranged for 52 guests.

Dr. Morgan Barnes, language professor at Grove City college, gave a humorous talk, his theme being "Quips and Counterchecks", the subject of his weekly column in a Mercer paper.

Miss Ruth Lewis, retiring president, presided at the business session.

Officers for the new club year follow: president, Miss Lois Kerr; first vice president, Miss Betty Smith; second vice president, Miss Ruth Lewis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John King; rcording secretary, Mrs. Arthur Brown; fellowship secretary, Miss Mildred Burleson, and treasurer, Miss Allurah Leslie. Mrs. Crawford Lyon was appointed as program committee chairman.

New members of the club elected during the past year are Miss Alice Clinefelter, Miss Margaret Strawbridge, Miss Maxine Conway and Miss Marguita Fox.

Those serving on the hostess committee for the dinner follow: Miss Lois Kerr, Miss Bernice Bartlett, Mrs. F. L. Burton, Miss Charlotte Emery, Mrs. William Y. Gibson, Dr. Jane Morris, Mrs. George Muffley, Mrs. Oscar Riley, Miss Genevieve Schugars, Mrs. Paris A. Shoaff, Miss Evelyn Spencer, Miss Maxine Conway, Miss Marguita Fox and Miss Margaret Strawbridge.

MARY ANN WARSING HONORED AT SHOWER

A May bride-elect, Miss Mary Ann Warsing, was honored when Miss Doris Mershimer entertained at a personal shower in her home, 1206 Highland avenue.

Prizes for games were won by Mrs. Wilbert Hall, mother of the prospective groom, and the Misses Irene Mackey and Joan Armstrong.

Lunch was served from a table prettily appointed in pastel shades. The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Warsing of R. D. 6, New Castle, will be married at 7:30 p. m. Friday, May 11, to Gary W. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Hall of Mounted Route 11, Ellwood City.

The open church ceremony will be solemnized in the Lilyville Church of God near Ellwood City.

AUGUSTA FIEDLER TO WED MAY 19

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Fiedler of R. D. 9 announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Augusta Fiedler, to Jack Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Campbell of 410½ Lyndal street.

The marriage will be an open church wedding in the Third U. P. church on Saturday, May 19, at 7 p. m. Dr. J. Paul Graham will officiate and use the double ring service.

No invitations have been issued, however, friends of the young couple are invited to attend.

WALKO-ADAMCZYK EXCHANGE OF VOWS

At an impressive double ring ceremony performed Saturday, May 5 at SS. Philip and James church at 2 o'clock, Miss Dolores Jean Walko, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Walko, Sr., of 1038 North Liberty street, and John Adamczyk, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adamczyk, Sr., of Tempalena avenue, were united in marriage.

Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancelewski officiated at the exchange of vows. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a gown of traditional satin and nylon. The off-shoulder bertha of nylon tulle, trimmed with satin rosebuds, and the sheer yoke of nylon enhanced the gown. The gown and circular train were designed with a wide border of nylon tulle. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion was fastened to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds. For the traditional "something borrowed, something blue" the bride carried a rosary belonging to her aunt and which came from Lourdes, France, and was blessed by the Pope.

Miss Delores Marie Palmerick, cousin of the bride, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was maid of honor, wearing a yellow gown and hat and carrying tea roses.

Bridesmaids, wearing pastel colored gowns and matching hats, were Ann Pashko Florence Walko of Beaver Falls, cousin of the bride, and Jeanne Adamczyk, sister of the groom. The attendants all carried yellow roses.

Joseph Muczko served the groom as best man and the ushers were Edward Pivovar, Marion Adamczyk, brother of the groom, and John Walko, Jr., brother of the bride.

Dinner was served for 200 guests at a local hall and an evening reception was held with music provided for dancing. After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Adamczyk will take up residence at 1008 North Liberty street.

The bride is employed by the Johnson Bronze company, while her husband is with the R. C. A. Service company.

EDWARDS SOCIETY MAY GATHERING

Edwards Missionary society of First Christian church assembled in the home of Mrs. Ralph Logan, Edgewood avenue. Mrs. C. F. Hay conducted devotions. Miss June Stokes was a special guest.

Mrs. Charles Finnefrock gave a report on mission work in New Mexico, while Miss Emma Patton presented a paper on "Arthur Morris' Work in India".

Plans were completed for a tea at First Christian church on Friday evening, May 18, when Mrs. W. T. Jameson will review the book, "The Whole Armor". Miss Lena Mae McConnell will be the evening's soloist. Mrs. C. F. Hay will be responsible for refreshments, while Mrs. Karl Chandler will have charge of publicity.

A tempting lunch was served by Mrs. Logan with her sister, Mrs. Jameson, as an aide.

TRUE BLUE CLASS HONORS MOTHERS

Mothers and daughters were honored Thursday evening at a banquet of the True Blue class in Third U. P. church. Places were arranged for 90 at attractively decorated tables, a delicious dinner being served by the S. B. Copeland class. The invocation was offered by Mrs. George Glass.

Mrs. James Uber served as toastmistress. Group singing was led by Mrs. Herbert Bintrim with Mrs. Margaret Barbour as accompanist. After Miss Helen Book, the president, welcomed the guests, Mrs. Albert Jones gave a toast to daughters.

"Tribute to Mothers," a pantomime, was given by the following: narrator, Miss Sadie Robinson; teacher, Mrs. Walter Jessel; secretary, Miss Helen Book; nurse, Miss Evelyn Douglas; judge, Mrs. Harold Dickson; bride, Miss Jo-Ann Jessel; young mother, Mrs. Andrew Harcar, and three generations, grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Gill; mother, Mrs. Carroll Byler, and daughter, little Barbara Byler.

Mrs. Horace Allen and daughter, Miss Irma Allen, offered a vocal duet with Miss Kathryn Newbury as accompanist. Mrs. George Glass, a guest, spoke, giving an appropriate talk for Mother's Day.

In behalf of the class, Mrs. Uber presented gifts to Mrs. Horace Allen, teacher; Mrs. Nancy Rhinehart, oldest mother, and Mrs. Andrew Harcar, youngest mother.

Mrs. James Uber, Miss Sadie Robinson and Mrs. Albert Jones composed the general committee of arrangements, while Mrs. Robert Barron, Mrs. Carroll Byler and Mrs. Lloyd Green were responsible for the tables.

PAULINE KIVISTO JUNE BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Karl J. Kivisto, 716 Acorn street, announces the forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Pauline, to Paul Ribar, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ribar, Aliquippa, Pa.

The custom of open church will be followed at the ceremony, to take place on June 16 at the Trinity Lutheran church at 2:30 o'clock.

Happy Relatives Club

Members of the Happy Relatives club met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Joan Effinite of South Jefferson street.

Games were enjoyed with Mrs. Phil Fontana and Mrs. Viola Genivick high score winners. Mrs. Jean Lombardo won the door prize.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess aided by Mrs. Ann Benigass and Mrs. Mary Fontana.

Next meeting of the club will be held on May 24 at the home of Mrs. Ann Benigass, 12½ Levine Way.

CAPPERINO-MAZZOCCA WEDDING IN CHURCH

Before an altar beautifully embanked with flowers and ferns in St. Vitus church Saturday, May 5, Miss Nellie Capperino, daughter of Mrs. Phil Capperino of 501 Florence avenue, because the bride of Angelo Mazzocca, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Mazzocca of 212 East Clayton street.

A large gathering of friends and relatives attended the nuptial mass during which time the young couple exchanged vows at 8 a.m. Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

For her wedding the bride was lovely in a gown of skinner's ivory slipper satin and imported Chantilly lace with high neckline nylon net yoke with drop shouder effect, and long sleeves tapering tightly at the wrists. The Chantilly lace bodice was daintly edged with irridescent tiny beads in front and back, with the basque waistline falling into a bouffant skirt ending in a Cathedral train. Her veil of imported English tulle appliqued with Chantilly lace was attached to a halo of imported waxed orange blossoms. She carried a prayer book marked with four orchids with streamers of stephanotis, and also carried a mother of pearl rosary, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Dolores Genovese, as maid of honor, wore a faille and net gown of nile green with low neckline, short puff sleeves with redingots style skirt net over faille and button back. She carried a bouquet of cascading yellow roses.

Bridesmaids, Jilda DePolis, Emma Jannetti, Nina DeLucia, the latter of Youngstown, O., and Frances Capperino, sister of the bride, wore gowns of mauve faille and net, fashioned similar to the maid of honor. They carried cascading bouquets of yellow roses with white carnations.

William Sacco served the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were: Al Zarilla, Phil Bovo, Rudy Warren and Fred Cascavilla.

Immediately following the congratulatory period at the church, a wedding breakfast was served in the church hall. A wedding dinner was served at a suburban dining room. The evening reception for 500 was held in King Humbet hall at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Mazzocca departed on a wedding trip to New York City and Canada and upon their return will reside at 501 Florence avenue.

Mrs. Mazzocca, a graduate of New Castle high school, class of 1947, is employed at the Shenango Pottery company. Mr. Mazzocca, a graduate of New Castle high school, is affiliated with the B. and O. railroad.

SAVING THE WOUNDED

Deaths from wounds in the Korean War have been at the lowest rate in history. This is a tribute to the magnificent work which the doctors, nurses and medical corpsmen attached to our fighting forces are doing under the most difficult and dangerous conditions.

But there is even more to it than that—and it is found in the high protein diet of American soldiers. Their rations include about a pound of meat a day, and meat is one of the limited number of sources of whole protein. According to Dr. I. S. Ravdin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and formerly a brigadier general in the medical corps, the amazing success in saving the wounded has resulted in part from "the recognition that high grade animal protein in diets may be almost as important as antibiotics (germ-killing medicines) in healing wounds faster."

This comes hard on the heels of the experience during World War II, when the enormous value of protein to troops was proven. Then, as now, military personnel received rations high in meat content. It was found, further, that protein has a definite beneficial effect on energy and morale, no less than in helping the sick and wounded to regain their health.

What is true of the soldier is true of the civilian. Research has firmly established the fact that large amounts of protein are needed by almost everyone. This is now strongly advocated by the leading medical authorities on dietetics. It marks a step forward on the march toward a stronger, healthier people—as the experience in Korea is demonstrating.

WATER NO LONGER FREE

Water has generally been regarded by the average American as plentiful and, if not as free as air, certainly not something to worry about. But the rapidly increasing population and industrial expansion resulting from wars and preparedness have taxed the nation's water plants to the limit of their capacity.

Treatment facilities costing $9,000,000,000 to $13,000,000,000—at current figures—will be necessary during the next 10 years, according to a statement issued by the U.S. Public Health Service at the opening of the annual conference of state sanitary engineers now under way in Washington.

The report points out that demand for water is the greatest in American history, and lists 22,000 sources of water pollution in the United States, divided nearly equally between municipal sewer systems and independent factory waste outlets.

Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele emphasizes the 10,000 new waste treatment plants recommended do not represent the total current need because the requirements of 1,600 municipalities and 5,500 industrial plants remain undetermined.

That the country is nearing a crisis in pure water supplies was highlighted by an acute water shortage in New York City a year ago. Plans which were hastily drawn to augment the city's supplies were abandoned when increased rainfall filled the reservoirs, but inadequate water supplies will threaten many cities in the future unless expenditures of billions of dollars for new facilities are authorized.

TOURIST SEASON

From Wyoming, which annually sees an influx of tourists and vacation-bound hordes greater than that of any other state in proportion to its population, comes word that the hegira has begun and this summer is expected to break all records.

Yellowstone National Park, which lies almost entirely within the confines of Wyoming, is, of course, the big attraction, but not the sole one. Yellowstone, which has a short tourist season—some of the roads will not be cleared of snow until June 1—has been seen by more Americans than any of the national parks, and those who have not been there will see it before they die, judging from the astounding number of tourists that head for there every summer.

There is no evidence that this summer's tourist business will suffer anywhere by comparison with former years. The average tourist spent less last summer than in the several preceding years, and that may again be the case this year. But those engaged in the gigantic business of catering to tourists are convinced their facilities will be crowded to the utmost come July 1.

For three decades the number of Americans that takes to the road in a brief nomadic binge has increased almost without interruption. The urge to get as far away from home for from a week to a month is as strong as ever, and it will not be denied. And most of this traveling is in a manner that would have been considered ultra luxurious by any former generation.

WOMEN WORKERS

The census bureau says the number of women employed outside the home skyrocketed by half a million during the year ended last February 1. Virtually all of the increase was in non-farm work.

Carrying the study a few steps further, the United States Women's Bureau found that more than one million American women work in their own businesses, professions or trades, or for fees.

A total of 215,000 women operate farms of their own but the total of all self-employed female workers is less than 10 per cent of the feminine labor force.

Red Voting Strength Low

An astonishing report that Soviet Russia fears an election in Eastern Germany would show a Communist voting strength of only five per cent threw light today on the Big Four Conference stalemate in Paris.

A secret poll among residents of Communist-dominat d eastern Germany is said to have disclosed this almost infinitesimal figure.

The western allies have made a free and unfettered all-German election by secret ballot an essential part of any east-west agreement on the divided country.

Knowing that they face an almost complete blackout in such a balloting, the Soviet delegates in Paris are pictured as merely trying to drag out the meeting of deputies which began on March 5 and have no serious intention of drafting an agenda for a new Big Four Conference.

The five per cent figure is astonishing for a number of reasons.

Communism always had a considerable following in Germany.

Karl Marx was born in Russia and his collaborator, Friedrich Engels, came from Baden. Their doctrine and minifesto drew largely on the experiences of the French Communes and their program was drafted in the company of the oppressed English working-classes.

But there followed a tremendous impact upon the anti-monarchist groups in Germany and before Adolf Hitler maneuvered himself into power, Communism was a very potent institution in the Reich.

Hitler always claimed to have liquidated Communism.

But the fact of the matter is that he tailored his governmental system to fit in with the baser aspects of Communism—the strong-arm tactics, the treachery, brutality, bribery and black-mail which are now so much a part of the systems in Soviet Russia and the satellites.

Thus he gave the Communist "bullyboys" a new sphere of action. To the rank and file who make up the unofficial armies of militant Communism there is not much difference between a Red flag and a brown uniform.

The low five per cent figure is surprising also because it has not seemed possible that all the parades, presumed adulation of Stalin and Lenin and other Communist manifestations in eastern Germany have been almost entirely synthetic.

It ties in, of course, with the electoral opinion of neighboring Austria, where five per cent is precisely the maximum that the Communist party has ever been able to poll in an election.

It can be linked also with the unexpected show of strength made by the Reichsparty, a so-called "Neo-Nazi" group, is last Sunday's elections in Lower Saxony, which lies in the British Zone.

This party, which until recently had a gang of storm troopers in polished boots on the Hitler order as part of its fanfare, ostensibly is anti-Communist to the core. Assuming that it is, the number of votes polled could be regarded as an indication of the German political feeling with regard to Red rule, and might be applied at least in some degree to the eastern zone.

Wants To Prolong Parley

Several other factors are cited for the reason why Russia merely wants to prolong the Big Four meeting and have nothing come out of it.

Among them is that she does not want to replace current European unrest by any form of stability, unless it is an enforced stability on her own terms.

These conditions, of course, are inacceptable to the west and it is apparent that deputies from the United States, Great Britain and France are continuing negotiations more out of hope than promise.

Yet it is significant that the subject of disarmament still figures almost daily in the fruitless discussions in the Duchess of Talleyrand's Pink Palace.

It seems likely that Russia is pushing this aspect out of consideration for the swiftly-moving defense plans of the western powers.

But the Russian stand also provides excellent propaganda material for the Communists. If the meeting breaks down, Russia can pull out all the stops to renew the charge of western war-mongering.

If Russia wants war at the present time, she must exploit all such propaganda to the maximum. If she is playing for time in the hope of splitting the allies, such propaganda is valuable also.

Regardless of which alternative she is choosing, Russia can hardly allow German elections that would prove Communism bankrupt in the nerve and muscle center of continental Europe.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

LEARNING RIGHT AND WRONG

Yesterday we suggested that the recent appalling disclosure of connections which so many persons chosen to represent us in our local state and national governments have with the underworld, and of the practice of influence by many public officials for fattening the purses of their personal friends may, in part, be a natural product of the philosophy and practice of home and school education during the last several decades.

We observed that the prevailing philosophy of education has been interpreted by the home and school generally to mean that restraints and requirements of the growing child and talk with him about doing right are to be avoided as harmful or futile. In print and public talks one may often read or hear that character can't be taught but has to grow out of the immediate situation. Indeed, teachers and parents have been led to suppose they are old-fashioned if they talk of things right or wrong with the growing child not connected with an immediate problem. They have been told that right and wrong are wholly relative matters always determined by the issue at hand.

What Is Feasible

How easily this has been interpreted and accepted to mean that what is right is what is feasible or convenient! This, in turn, is readily carried forth to mean that what is right is virtually what you can get away with. Principles of eternal rightness and wrongness are more or less taboo.

In this column I have maintained that best child-rearing and education accepts many of the basic principles of rightness and wrongness which have come down to us in the experiences of the human race and which need to be held forth constantly in goals for upward striving; that at home and at school we parents and teachers should often talk with children on familiar matters of doing right at times when emotionally we are most persuasive and they most receptive, whether these matters are immediately at hand or not.

Specific Ways

Indeed, it is often better to talk about specific ways of doing right, when no such problem is at hand. For example, we might do more good to talk with the child, in a favorable atmosphere, on why he should not handle things he has not purchased in a store, than to talk of such after a complaint of his having done so has come to our attention. When blame or suspicion are not present, the teacher and the one taught may think, unhampered by emotions.

If we want to build good men and women, good responsible citizens worthy to represent us in our government, let us do the following:

1. Strive to be good persons and citizens ourselves in the light of what we know is right; try to be good examples.
2. Provide at home a family atmosphere of love, understanding and appreciation of one another there.
3. Discipline the child, especially in his early years, in adequate restraints as a basis for his self-control and respect for the rights of others. Gradually exercise him in useful, reasonable requirements and celebrate his growth in these directions.
4. Having won the child's esteem at home or school, often talk with him about everyday matters of doing right. Constantly hold before him values which don't perish and try to make them attractive.

Just Folks

MISSED

Time was, into the house he'd stride
In muddy shoes at set of sun;
His hat and sweater toss aside
And say: "Once more the wedding's done."
I grumbled that he didn't see
The extra work he made for me.

The rugs with garden soil he'd track.
My patience oft he used to try.
The prettiest towel on the rack
He'd seize upon his hands to dry.
What bothered me were things like that,
And hanging up his coat and hat.

The garden lacks the care it knew.
His feet will track the rugs no more.
The chair on which his things he threw
Stands empty now beside the door,
And I sit wishing, all in vain,
Those extra tasks were mine again.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

April showers they said would bring May flowers . . . 'twas true . . . but how about May showers, will it bring grass to our front yard? That is the big question . . . time will tell and time seems mighty slow at times. The man who has courage to pave his yard with green amesite probably has solved many problems while creating others. Problems seem to dominate the world . . . real and imagined. Those who entered the Poetry Contest carried such thinking in their words . . . and it was a problem for a moment when we heard the word "cinquain" . . . which means five lines with complete thought. Two prizes were awarded for such work which we present at this time.

Flaw In Agreement Picture

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The picture of agreement on the Korean conflict among the joint chiefs of staff, the secretary of defense and the president is an impressive one. It has, however, one flaw that somewhat mars the perfection of the picture as presented.

The current investigation is almost certain to bring out the area of disagreement. Since it antedates the beginning of the war in Korea, General Marshall was correct when he testitfied that there had been no disagreement over policy on the conduct of the war.

Recommended Mission

In December of 1949 the joint chiefs of staff recommended sending an American military mission to the island of Formosa to assist in the training of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops. This was rumored at the time but it was never established as fact.

The JCS did not contemplate any specific mission for the troops that would be trained under the direction of American officers. But the necessity to use them eventually in one place or another to thwart communist aggression in Asia, as well as to strengthen the defenses of Formosa, was foreseen. Without training and the help of equipment from this country it was felt that the Nationalist forces, which had sought refuge on Formosa, would deteriorate to a point at which they would be of little use anywhere.

Recommendation Overruled

On December. 29, 1949, this recommendation of the joint chiefs was overruled. The belief in the Pentagon at the time was that the state department had got into the White House "by the back door" and had persuaded President Truman to reverse the JCS recommendation.

Even at so late a date it would be healthy to air all the circumstances surrounding the decision on training the Nationalist troops. Perhaps even before this can appear in print the senate committee will have begun to examine that phase of the Asian problem.

There inevitably will be speculation on what the situation would be today if the JCS had not been overruled. The supreme irony is that the decision which might have been taken in December of 1949 has now finally been agreed to by everyone concerned. On April 20 the department of defense announced that a training mission was being sent to Formosa headed by Major General William Curtis Chase.

Would Have Army Ready

If that mission had been sent a year and a half ago, military men believe that today 10 well-trained and equipped divisions would be in readiness on Formosa. In view of some of the political controls exercised by the little group of around Chang, this may be unjustified optimism in hindsight.

But the fact remains that the forces on Formosa are today ill equipped and in need of training. When General MacArthur was before the senate committee, testimony showed that at one point fairly early in the Korean war he rejected the suggestion that Nationalist forces be used. Later when the war was going badly he reversed the earlier decision and urged their use.

Strict Non-Interference

In December of 1949 and in the months immediately following Secretary of State Acheson held to a policy of strict non-interference in the affairs of China, opposing what he called "adventures" urged by others. He expounded this policy with clarity and forcefulness in one of the ablest speeches he has ever made, delivered before the National Press club on January 12, 1950.

In that speech he outlined the basic causes of conflict between the Soviet Union and communist China. Russian imperialism, as Acheson saw it then, was annexing large areas of China in which Chinese-speaking people lived. This process has been completed, he said, in Outer Mongolia and was in process of completion in Manchuria.

"What does that mean for us?" Acheson asked. "It means that nothing we do and nothing that we say must be allowed to obscure the reality of this fact. All the efforts of propaganda will not be able to obscure it. The only thing that can obscure it is the folly of ill-conceived adventures on our part which easily could do so and I urge all who are thinking about these foolish adventures to remember that we must not seize the unenviable position which the Russians have carved out for themselves."

Opposed Action

In other words, he opposed any action that might have been taken as interference with communist

One Man's Opinion

Not all the news out of Washington is controversial . . . Harry came out strong for plumper chickens and Joe Martin let it pass without comment.

The President said what the country needs right now is meatier birds . . . He didn't say that was all the country needed, but it makes a nice start.

Anyway Mr. Truman has the assurance of his party chief that a great many Democratic leaders want him to run again . . . At the moment a great many Republican leaders also want him to run again.

In fact they wish he was running this year . . . Preferably right now.

As everyone knows a Republican believes "if the election was held tomorrow we could win" . . . A belief they have held for several thousand tomorrows exclusive of election days.

Anyway from now on we're for firm fowl and policies to match . . . Both could use a little more meat on them.

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea — Lt. Gen. Ridgway, praising the fighting of the troops under his command—"It is, I believe, quite possible that because of this action history will record the crest of the Communist wave was broken against your arms and will to fight . . ."

CHICAGO—Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of selective service—"This is a dangerous world and always has been. There is no need for hysteria but complacency is the real danger to guard against."

NEW YORK—Secretary of Labor Tobin—"A single atom bomb dropped on the city of New York would take more lives in an instant than the Korean war has taken in ten months."

FRANKFURT — Ernest Reuter, mayor of West Berlin—"I am convinced that the west is strong enough . . . The Soviets will give up what they cannot digest."

"When The Gods Depart"

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—Senator Taft, who's gunning for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, could raise his sights a little and hit a much more important target—the whole question of creeping militarism in national affairs.

He could; but it's not likely that Taft or any other ambitious statesman will have the nerve to do so. That would be like standing under the water tank and peppering it full of holes. Those who pull the triggers would be badly drenched; their oratory extinguished and their dignity bedraggled. There's hardly a politician in town who's in a good position to draw an honest bead on the subject of Pentagon-in-politics.

Ought To Be Evaluated

Still, it's a target that ought to be evaluated. First of all, let's say with truth and pride that there's no Man on Horseback in America today. With all the talk of removing President Truman, there has not been a whisper about replacing him with a brass-bound Caesar. Here we have a testament of American normality in a world of raving mania, and we ought to be thankful for it.

Just to document the record, it's well to cite recent cases where the door has been left harmlessly ajar for a military foot. Four years ago Gen. Marshall, then Secretary of State, was next in succession to Mr. Truman who had no vice president at the time. It was at Marshall's strong insistence that the law was rewritten to make the Speaker of the House third in line to the presidency. Less than three years ago it seemed that Gen. Eisenhower could be elected President merely by electing to run. That same year Gen. MacArthur did allow his name to be entered at the GOP convention, but declined to leave his Tokyo post to push his chances.

Praise Be To The Generals

Praise be to the generals for this past record—and they haven't done badly since. The 1950s have found these same men drawn into political decisions, but the fault lies more at Capitol Hill and Blair House than in the Pentagon or Tokyo. It's the vacuum of statecraft that has more and more exerted suction on military men.

Much is made over Secretary Acheson's White House influence, but that influence has lessened since the November elections and the December disasters in Korea. The Defense Department, rather than State, has become the seat of Administration authority. Eisenhower, not Acheson, furnished the deciding testimony in the Great Debate on troops-to-Europe. MacArthur has been the star witness on Asian affairs. These and other military figures have moved in, not to snatch power, but to fill a great emptiness caused by the lack of civilian leadership.

Creeping Militarism

Yet any evaluation of creeping militarism has to go deeper than that. The vacuum does exist. We clearly have no Man on Horseback problem. But we do have a Power Behind the Throne problem.

This problem, a vital target, is something that ought to be shot at. A good place to begin is last September when Marshall replaced Louis Johnson as Secretary of Defense. It is commonly supposed that Acheson's fingerprints were the only ones on the dagger in Johnson's back. Not so. A closer inspection, according to good Pentagon sources at the time, would show also the handiwork of Bradley and some fellow-officers. We need not review the merits of Johnson's economy effort at the Pentagon. A much bigger principle is involved. What's to be done about creeping militarism that is potent enough to bounce a civilian Cabinet minister and replace him with a five-star general?

Then there's the prevailing Acheson mystery. What's keeping him in the Truman Cabinet? Not the President's over-advertised sense of loyalty, for he has a list of expellees as long as his arm. Not the President's civilian advisors. Every school child knows that Acheson is a political liability and that his personality makes a Chinese Wall between Mr. Truman and Congress.

Pentagon Military Clique

Is it the Pentagon military clique which upholds the Secretary of State? This at least is his only visible means of support, and there is some logic to the supposition. Acheson and Marshall have a common cause in the dumping of Chiang Kai-shek. Acheson and Bradley were hand in glove at the Johnson ouster. Acheson and the Joint Chiefs were made bed-fellows in the presidential recall of MacArthur. If military pressure could remove a Defense Secretary, it may well be able to retain a Secretary of State.

There is, to repeat with emphasis, nothing sinister about Pentagon in politics to date. The men who wear the stars are not seeking power, but power is being thrust upon them by political bungling. Even so, it's not a situation to be ignored. When the gods of civilian authority depart, you never know what half-gods may move in next.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

There are so many world-shaking events going on these days that we are too apt to overlook others that in ordinary times might receive the attention they deserve.

The personal importance of anything depends entirely upon its relation to yourself. The more it concerns YOU the more important it IS to you.

The more important an event is to the greatest number of people, the bigger headlines it gets in the newspapers, the more adjectives and exclamation mark the radio commentators use.

Therefore I was not a little disappointed when something that is very important to me, got such an insignificant display in the papers.

Some didn't mention it at all. Others gave it only a one-column head.

This is what the head was:

"Roquefort Expert Says
He Got Wrong Cheese"

I love cheese, and therefore everything pertaining to cheese is IMPORTANT.

Roquefort is one of my favorite cheeses and if a woman palms off blue cheese in her restaurant when the customer calls for Roquefort, that is worth more than a one-column heading over a two-paragraph story.

And, apparently the Roquefort Association, Inc., of New York agrees with me.

Their secretary went to this restaurant, and twice — mind you TWICE—he says he was served blue cheese when he asked for Roquefort!

So they hired a lawyer and went to court about it. They took the proprietor to court. They spent hours and many dollars on the case.

And they won!

The Court decided that Roquefort is Roquefort, and blue cheese is blue cheese—and never the twain shall meet.

I am glad that the court so decided. Roquefort is a French cheese—and first thing you know this might have been another case for the United Nations.

What kind of baby carriage were YOU wheeled around in? (Pardon my grammar).

Did you have one like the latest creation now being shown in the swanky New York stores?

The exterior of the new model is gaily done in fake leopard skin, impervious to the elements (that is, the OUTSIDE elements). It is equipped with shiny cromium support bars, front and back non-tilt bars, double safety brakes and special wind-breakers and covers.

There are extra padded cushions and linings, jounce-free springs and oversize rubber tires. (Owing to government restrictions however, please don't order white-wall tires.)

The carriage is custom-made and is intended, as the announcement says, only for those who can afford the best.

And still another luxury item. I am told that in the President's requested budget there is a provision for an $880,000 bomb shelter for the White House folks, equipped with all the comforts of home.

Ain't we getting fastidious?

House Committee Considers Boost n Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—The House Ways and Means committee which already has tax boosts totaling five billion dollars a year takes up an administration request today for another three billions in excise levies.

The committee may tackle first the excise taxes on alcoholic beverages as this heads the excise tax list. President Truman recommended that another 706 million dollars be raised annually from this source.

The president's overall recommendation was for a 10 billion dollar increase in revenue to forestall a threatened deficit during the 1952 fiscal year which begins July 1.

So far the committee has taken steps designed to bring in an additional 5 billion 460 million dollars a year in revenue.

If it follows the pattern it has adopted so far, it will probably vote excise tax increases of 1.5 to 2 billion dollars. This would indicate a final tax bill boost of 7 to 7.5 billion dollars.

China. Acheson was, of course, talking about an Asia in which both the Chinese rulers and the Chinese people would have a chance to see and understand the full significance of Russia's imperial aims. As he pointed out in his Press club speech, those aims go back a long way before the bolshevik revolution of 1917.

The Korean war completely altered the situation. Reversing all values, it tended to throw Moscow and Peiping closer together in a common goal. And for Americans it has put in the forefront the toll of casualties in a remote foreign war that seems to have little hope of termination. The crushing and brutal force of events, compounded by conflicts here at home, has overruled the secretary of state.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

Palmer Hoyt, editor of the Denver Post, told George Allen the story of a Utah citizen named Al Packer, white, single, and Republican, who set out with five companions on a gold-hunting expedition in 1873. Some two months later Packer returned alone, suspiciously well-heeled, and soon ugly stories were in circulation. Packer was finally brought to trial, charged with killing—and eating!—the other five. He was convicted and sentenced to be hanged. The jury was solidly Republican, but the judge, M. B. Gerry, was a Democrat.

He thundered, "Alfred Packer, you man-eating scoundrel, stand up! I hereby sentence you, you depraved Republican cannibal, to hang by the neck till dead. There were only six Democrats in this county, and by God, you've et five of them!"

A befuddled mathematics professor awoke one morning to find his feet on the pillow and his head hanging over the foot of the bed. He grumbled to his wife, "Here I was convinced I was suffering from a headache—and it's just my corns aching."

Finds Americans Don't Want War

NEW YORK, May 11.—Early last February I set out from home—New York, that is—with sample case in hand. For one reason or another, I have been on the road fairly continuously since, through the mid midwest, the upper midwest and the far, or ten-gallon, west.

I toted that case to the cross roads, the fork of the crick and to the cities. And wherever I went during this interim, I kept my ear to the ground—even when there was six foot of snow in Minneapolis—and my eyes open for the great American war-monger.

For the past ten months, the burden of at least 50 per cent of the foreign correspondence printed in American publications, and whether written by American or European observers, has been the fact that Europe and Asia are scared stiff because we Americans—you and me and the guy across the street—can't wait to plunge into world war III.

Kind of Scared

By the time I took to the road last February, I was kind of scared myself. I hadn't met up with any war-mongers in New York, but I figured maybe we New Yorkers were a sort of shiftless, peace-loving lot, seduced into wishy-washy, tranquil ways by our habitual low thinking and high living.

It stood to reason, or so it seemed to me, that if great minds like Aneurin Bevan, Jean Paul Sartre and Premier Nehru figured we were a trigger-happy nation, it must be true.

Equipped with a bullet-proof vest and fortified by several fire extinguishers, always handy if a populace is snorting smoke and flames, I set out upon my journey into the presumably blood-thirsty interior.

Well, I realize that my findings will scarcely be regarded as stop-press news in Moscow. But perhaps some of the nervous newspapers across the Atlantic and the Pacific may regard my conclusions as worth a replate job on the five-star final.

Want No World War III

In more than 12,000 miles of travel, I was unable to unearth a single American man, woman or child who wanted any part of world war III. I never saw a more peaceable people in my life than my fellow citizens. In all those miles, I never saw a bared fang or a dripping claw.

Contrary to reported opinion abroad, this nation is not confining itself exclusively to a diet of raw meat. Most people can't afford to eat meat in the first place. And in the second place, any traveler in America who is dependent upon local inns for sustenance knows that what meat mine hosts get their paws on is so charred by the time it reaches the table that it wouldn't put fight in an anaemic gopher.

What Americans really want out of life is to be left in peace to work at the job they like by day and to rock on the porch in the evening. There are some Americans who can't even remember a time like that, ones who were born after 1918. But they've heard the old folks talk about it, and it sounds dandy.

Would Welcome End of War

As far as I can figure, Americans would like to see an honorable end to the war in Korea. But Americans don't like the word "appeasement" and are constitutionally unable to couple it with the word "honorable".

Sure, Americans are for rearmament. But only because they see it as the only hope of avoiding world war III. Americans are always being called "naive" by their critics. And maybe they are, but a lot of Americans think they are bending their back to staggering tax loads because once more America is being called upon to be the arsenal of democracy.

If war or the possibility of war is making them rich, they would like to have some high-powered economist explain why it is, then, that they have to dip into savings to make ends meet.

I never saw or talked with people as franticaly opposed to war, any war, as Americans. They hate war. And they know they have to fight yet another world war. And maybe they're naive, but they think another world conflict will involve something called liberty and freedom, and they think a lot of other people besides Americans should be concerned.

But as for the great American war-monger—there ain't no sech animal.

BUILDING PERMITS

Several construction permits have been issued by the city bureau of building. They were issued to:

Harry M. Wachob, 526 North Liberty street, fence, $10.

Charles J. L. Jessop, 329 Crescent avenue, wire fence, $5.

Howard E. Zeigler, 336 Park avenue; remodel dwelling, $2,500.

Walter W. Lelli, 1041 Beckford street, block garage, $400.

James Bovo, 206 South Ray street, wire fence, $25.

E. C. Chapman, Jr., 203 Laurel avenue, remodel dwelling, $1,400.

Howard E. Hicks, 421 Butz street, remodel dwelling, $500.

Future Projects At Bethel Baptist Are Announced At Church

At the annual business meeting of the Bethel Baptist church, held Wednesday night in the church, many reports of progress were given.

All departments reported gains in all phases of their work. Much progress has been made by this newly organized church, having only been organized in 1948. The Lord has guided very successfully in the past three years, and it looks as though the coming years will see even greater progress for God in this church on the hillside.

The membership took strides in this direction when they authorized the building committee and trustees to proceed with an extensive improvement plan presented by Rev. Earl Collins the pastor.

The largest of this project will be the building of a twenty foot vestibule on the front of the church to enclose the present stairway and afford more room for auditorium and Sunday school, as well as a "Babyville" for the future church. Along with this, if finances permit, will be new pews, new rug, and other smaller items which will add to the comfort and worship of God's House.

AT BAINBRIDGE, MD.

William H. Barkschat, Jr., H.S.S.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Barkschat of Plaingrove, is now serving at the Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Md.

Greater London has a population of almost 10 million.

Greets Daughter Home From Africa

Traveling alone great distances is no burden for Mrs. Hannah McIlrath of R. D. 1, 84-year-old great-grandmother, who has just returned from New York City, where she witnessed the arrival by boat of her daughter, Mrs. Enos Hess, missionary to Belgiain Congo, Africa.

Mrs. McIlrath, who does most of her traveling by rail, is remarkably spry despite her age. She assists with the housework at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McIlrath, where she makes her home and still finds time to plant a flower and vegetable garden.

She attributes her longevity to her active life. Mrs. McIlrath has taught a Sunday school class for more than 50 years and presently teaches a ladies' Bible class at the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street.

Mrs. McIlrath's missionary daughter proceeded to Quakertown, Pa., near Lancaster, where she will reside with her two daughters, Misses Ruth and Pauline Hess. Rev. Hess, her husband, remained in Africa and will be there six months yet until a building program is completed.

Electrical Engineers To Meet Wednesday

Sharon section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will hold its May meeting on Wednesday, May 16 in the Westinghouse Auditorium in Sharon. The meeting is entitled "Exposition of Technical Talent" when papers prepared by the members will be presented and discussed.

A dinner at the Shenango Inn in Sharon will precede the meeting at 6:30. The technical session opens at 8 o'clock.

The average revenue received by the railroads for hauling a ton of freight one mile is 1 1/3 cents.

Sunny Ave. Mothers Club Installs Officers For Year

Sunny Avenue Mothers club met Wednesday evening at the school with Mrs. Fred Horchler presiding.

Impressive candlelight services for installation of officers was held, Miss Mary Tabiscz, faculty advisor, in charge. Mrs. E. Smith provided beautiful piano background music for the occasion.

Officers installed are: president, Mrs. Thais Shuler; vice president, Mrs. Florence Slater; secretary, Mrs. Patricia McNicholas; treasurer, Mrs. Ann Hritz.

Miss Tabiscz presented corsages to the past president, Mrs. Fred Horchler, and both old and new officers.

Tentative plans for erecting a school playground were made. Delbert McEwen of the faculty will be in charge.

Plans for the annual school picnic were completed. It will be held June 6 at the school.

The picnic will be held in conjunction with a hobby show given by the boys and a doll exhibition by the girls. Mrs. Fred Covelli and Mrs. Thais Shuler will be co-chairmen. Other committees are: games, Mrs. Forrest Farrington, Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Ward; table arrangements, Mrs. Florence Slater, Mrs. Jerry Ammons and Mrs. Haun; refreshments, Mrs. Sophia Gierlach and Mrs. Fred Horchler.

After lunch group singing will be enjoyed.

Report Chinese And Soviet Troops In 'Shooting War'

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 11. — (INS) — Chinese Nationalist sources at U. N. reported today that a large-scale "shooting war" has been going on for a year between Soviet troops, plane and tanks and Nationalist guerrillas in Sinkiang province bordering Siberia.

According to a Formosa dispatch the fighting has involved Russian "divisions" and some 60,000 guerrillas, with the Soviets suffering heavily.

The report is based, it was said, on information given personally to Chiang Kai-Shek government by Yelbars Khan, commander of the guerrillas in Sinkiang.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Esther Williams, the glamorous mermaid, rides the range with the best of them in her next picture, but she does not neglect the bathing suit to which she brought fame.

Esther is both a siren of the saddle and the queen of the midway plunge in "Texas Carnival", in which she cavorts in technicolor with Red Skelton.

"I'm the water bait of the Texas carnival," Esther says, "but I desert my perch as the 'dunk me!' girl of the midway after too many dead-eyes armed with baseballs hit the bullseye and send me falling to the bottom of a water tank!"

Some Gal

Esther rides, ropes, juggles pots and pans and wins a chuck-wagon race in the picture. The script calls for her to cook a Texas-style breakfast while the wagons are careening across the prairie.

"I juggle a coffee pot, mush, eggs, salt and pepper, stove, stable and accessories—and toss them blindly over my head for Red Skelton to catch and set up," Miss Williams laughs, "and we manage to cook up the best breakfast west of the Pecos."

Esther swims in some of the most beautiful bathing suits beyond the Great Divide and appears draped successfully in nothing but a large Indian blanket, an elaborate bath towel and an outsized bed sheet.

"As a matter of fact," Miss Williams reveals, "in one scene they have me swimming under water—in a chiffon negligee.' '

Stick to Diet

The same lions that chewed up the Christians in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's forthcoming "Quo Vadis" go through the same routine in the five-million-dollar European spectacle, "F'abiola", which premieres in New Orleans on May 9.

The English version of the multi-language production was previewed in Hollywood this week to a professional audience that gasped at the arena scenes. The prolonged shots of Christian martyrdom in the Roman circus were too much for some of the audience.

"Fabiola" stars France's Michele Morgan and Henri Vidal and has a cast of 7,000.

Expect Mazuma

Hollywood bigwigs look to garner around $150,000 for each movie shown on the nation's present 104 television stations and $1,000,000 per picture when licenses are unfrozen for 2,000 stations.

Televised films rent for between $150 and $2,500 per showing, the price depending on the size of cities and number of channels. New York and Los Angeles are in the top $2,500 class. A movie can expect $8,000 from Chicago's four stations; $6,000 from Philadelphia and $4,000 from Detroit.

Have Banquet On Thursday

Mothers-Daughters At Mt. Jackson Church

At Mt. Jackson U.P. church, on Thursday evening, ladies of the church sponsored the annual Mothers and Daughters banquet with 175 present.

A delicious chicken dinner with all the trimmings was served at 6:30 by the committee. The invocation was given by Mrs. Clarence McFate. Toastmistress was Mrs. Edward Bradley.

Mrs. Dale Tindall, chairman, presented a program. Toast to daughters, Mrs. Wesley Hodge; toast to mothers, Miss Janet Hodge. Roses were presented to the oldest mother, Mrs. Harlan Wilson; youngest mother, Mrs. Robert Hayes; mother of youngest child, Mrs. George Martin; mother with most daughters, Mrs. Ransom Barris, Mrs. Oscar Lipp, Mrs. Bud Parrott; mother with largest family, Mrs. Bertha Mars. The Coverchord Male Quartet of Geneva College gave several splendid selections.

Mrs. Clifford Ferree was general chairman. Mrs. Howard Chambers headed dinner committee; Mrs. James Shaffer, decorating and table committee; Rev. James Crawford, pastor, Sunday school class served the supper.

Methodist W.S.C.S. Has Pledge Meeting

Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Mahoning Methodist church gathered on Tuesday evening in the ladies parlor. Mrs. J. A. Waddell conducted the devotional period.

Business session was in charge of Mrs. Q. E. Davy, vice president. Decision was made regarding the contribution to the annual Joash fund at the service on Sunday, May 13.

The social committee was Mrs. James M. Yates, Mrs. Chester Johnson, Mrs. W. C. Shanafelt and Mrs. William A. Moss.

Those speaking on the first of the year pledge were Mrs. Q. E. Davy, Mrs. Leonard Blasdell, Mrs. George Kutz, Mrs. Hazel Jolley, Mrs. Ruby Arble, Mrs. A. J. Waddell, Mrs. Clark Godwin, and Mrs. Ralph Taylor.

Mrs. Chester Johnson and Mrs. Ralph Scowden favored the group with a duet, accompanied by Miss Ina Cooper.

Girl Scouts No. 60 Plan For 'Cook-Out'

At Mahoning school on Wednesday evening, the Girl Scouts No. 60 had their regular meeting, which opened with songs and games, directed by leader Mrs. Earl Ruehle.

At the business session, plans were made for the "Cook-out" on Saturday morning at 'Flower Valley'. The group will meet at the home of leader Mrs. John Porter, 919 West Clayton street. The firebuilders with all preparations will leave at 9:30 a.m., and the remaining scouts go to the rendezvous at 11 o'clock. Rose Daugherty is in charge of reservations for the event.

The "Cook-out" is part of the "Good Cooking" badge work, being done by the girls. Mrs. Howard F. Culbertson, committee woman was also present.

Next meeting of the group will be at the school on Wednesday, May 16.

Window Panes Curb Noises

TOLEDO, O.—(INS)—If you're exhausted after a seemingly good night's sleep, maybe you need to erect an insulating glass barrier between your subconscious mind and outside nocturnal noises, suggests a University of Michigan physicist.

Recent studies conducted by several research groups show a definite relationship between noise and fatigue, said Dr. Paul H. Geiger in a report to Libby-Owens-Ford Glass Company. The Michigan research physicist stated that windows fitted with Thermo-pane glass eliminated up to 44 per cent of the noise that filters through single paned windows to disturb sleep and wreck nerves.

Engineers like those at LOF who developed the double-paned glass to make the home quieter, warmer and more livable, also report it is being used extensively to exclude noise from radio and television studios, by newspapers to suppress the clatter of presses and in offices to filter out noises that interfere with the efficiency of workers.

One study conducted by a large eastern college among office workers showed that 19 per cent more caloric energy was expended by typists working in a noisy room than was required in a quiet environment.

Legless Alaska Boy Gets Gift Wagon

OREGON CITY, Ore.—(INS)—A legless Eskimo boy in Alaska is riding in a toy coaster wagon drawn by huskies because a friend spied the wagon among toys left when the Oregon City Fire department for needy children.

The boy is Glacia Nicholi, an alert, cheerful Eskimo whose legs were gone below the knee. In winter Glacia could ride on the family sled behind the racing dogs, but the melting snow restricted him to the vicinity of the family's narrow shack. His family had no radio and he could neither read or write.

The sympathetic firemen gave the wagon to Diana Murphy, a West Linn high school student who has lived in Alaska, after hearing of Glacia's plight.

Glacia lived in the tiny Bering Sea community of Goodnews Bay. Diana could not write to Glacia and was not certain his family had not moved elsewhere in their quest for fish and wild game.

The Goodnews Bay Mining company offered to forward the wagon as soon as weather conditions in the spring permitted a voyage to the tiny settlement.

The company said the Murphys need pay only freight charges to Seattle. The platinum mining concern paid the remaining costs as its contribution to the crippled lad.

Today, Glacia's family lives in Dillingham, where the boy can travel in his husky-drawn wagon on the southeastern Alaskan community's hard-surfaced streets.

Dr. Wygant Not At Atlantic City

Holy Name Men To Rally Sunday

the Holy Mass. The Very Reverend Connelly, Professor of Philosophy, has several times preached major sermons in St. Patrick Cathedral, New York City. In harmony with the occasion, he will use as the theme of his sermon, "The Holy Name Man's Mother."

During the distribution of Holy Communion, the beautiful "Jesu, Amice, Omnium" will be sung a capella by a choir of fifty voices.

Toward the end of the Mass a special Memorial service for the deceased members of the society with special prayers and hymns, closing with "Taps" and "Echo" will be heard.

Immediately following the joyful "Te Deum" to be intoned by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor and sung by the entire society of Holy Name men, the recessional of the hierarchy and clergy will take place to the strains of the recessional by Palatrina in honor of Pope Leo XIII.

The men will then march from the church and headed by the American Legion band will proceed to the Cathedral on Lincoln avenue where the rally will continue under the moderation of the Rt. Rev. Monsignor. The parade will be under the supervision of R. Emmett Dagnon, president of St. Mary Holy Name society, assisted by ex-service men of World Wars I and II. The color guard, under the personal direction of Peter J. McGinity, will be staffed by members of the society who have represented every branch of the armed service in past wars. Captain John L. McCarthy will serve as the Officer of the Day.

To Have Breakfast

A Communion breakfast will be tendered the men in the dining rooms of the Cathedral. It will be prepared by the ladies of St. Mary's under the chairmanship of Mrs. Mary Maher and served by the "Career Women" of the parish assisted by the Sodality of Our Lady under the direction of their prefect, Miss Laura Miloser. Charles D. Hogue, a member of the Holy Name society, will have complete charge of the culinary department while Miss Mae Dagnon assisted by Miss Ann Gallagher, will be hostesses of the dining rooms.

After the blessing and Holy Name pledge, breakfast will be served. Music during the breakfast will be furnished by E. E. Branstetter, presiding at the console of the Hammond organ. At the conclusion of the breakfast, William F. O'Loughlin will assume the duties of Master of Ceremonies. Opening the program, Robert McKay will sing as a solo, "The Living God" by Geoffrey O'Hara.

Father McCarter will acknowledge the visiting guests. Continuing the program, a solo will be sung by George Chip, Jr., "Mother Machree" by Rita Young and Ernest Ball. At the conclusion of the solo, Mr. O'Loughlin will call upon the Executive Chairman of the Lecture committee of the Holy Name society, Paul J. Dougherty, M.A., who will give the Layman's address of the Rally. Mr. Dougherty's address will be followed by the "Ave Maria" by J. T. Womelink, sung as a solo by Francis R. Morrissey.

Monsignor To Speak

The climax of the Rally will be the address from the Hiearchy to be delivered by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Francis J. Schwendeman, S.Th.D., J.C.D., Chancellor of the diocese of Columbus. Doctor Schwendeman studied both here in America at the Catholic university in Washington, D. C. and did his post graduate work in Fribourg, Switzerland where he earned his Doctorates in both Sacred Theology and in Canon Law. He returned to this country and taught Philosophy, History and Canon Law in the St. Charles Seminary, Columbus, O. In 1946, he was made Papal Chamberlain by Pope Pius XII and in 1949, was elevated to the rank of Domestic Prelate. Doctor Schwendeman is the author of several books on philosophy and law and has the distinction of being one of the most sought after lecturers in the Catholic hiearchy. A portion of his address will be re-broadcast over Station WKST at 2 p.m. Daylight Saving Time.

Following the Rt. Rev. Monsignor's address, the society will give special recognition to three of its members who have served in the capacity of President from the days following the Second World War, when the St. Mary's group was re-organized by Father King. They are: John J. Maher, Vincent G. Wadlinger and R. Emmett Dagnon. Each will be presented with a golden Past President's medal to be blessed by Father King and presented by the Honorary President of the society, Father McCarter. At this point in the program, the men will stand for the singing of "America" to the accompaniment of the American Legion band.

The Rally will be brought to a close by the Rev. Edward J. Pikulik, pastor of Madonna church in New Castle, who will give the Benediction. The Rally is under the direction of Rev. Francis P. King, assisted by the thirty-five executive members and seventy-five block captains of the society.

Gardner Chapel To Hear Gospel Singers

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Misses Myrtle Hansen and Nadine Grice, gospel musicians with the Cantelon party appearing at the First Pentecostal church, will sing, play and speak at the Gardner Chapel located along the New Castle-Ellwood City road.

The young ladies will bring some of their instruments to the service and will present a gospel musical program. A special message will be brought during the hour.

Rita Hayworth Is Now Residing In Reno, Nevada, Area

RENO, May 10.—(INS)—Glamorous Rita Hayworth, who blazed across Nevada in a Packard convertible, by-passed Reno and slipped into Lake Tahoe tonight.

The film actress, who says she is seeking a legal separation from Prince Aly Khan, avoided reporters and photographers as she made her way to the exclusive resort area, 35 miles from Reno, where she has rented a 10-room mansion.

The youngest man ever to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor was Marine Pfc. Jacklyn H. Lucas, 17.

Meet To Discuss Nursing Duties In Civil Defense

An important meeting of the planning committee for nursing in civil defense was recently held in the nurses residence of the New Castle hospital. The chairman, Sister Lawrence Mary, gave a detailed report of the recent three-day Pittsburgh-Erie Institute on Nursing Functions in Atomic Warfare which she attended in Pittsburgh under the sponsorship of the Pennsylvania Council on Civil Defense and the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association. This institute was one of several being held throughout the state to prepare nurses to teach other nurses their functions in the event of atomic warfare.

Having heard the report and the recommendations from the institute, ways and means of disseminating the necessary information were discussed. Tentative plans were made for a one day institute on nursing functions in atomic warfare to be held in the near future. This institute is to be patterned on those being held thruout the state.

Urged To Send Coupon

The committee has been charged with the responsibility of developing a current list of all nurses in Lawrence county which will be used by the Lawrence County Civil Defense group in planning to meet possible emergencies.

Regardless of your classification in the field of nursing, will you use the coupon which appears in this paper and send it today to the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross. Also if you know others who have had nursing experience, kindly urge them to do likewise.

Every nurse has a part to play in this program of civil defense.

NEW HOME FOR MACARTHUR FAMILY

—Acme Telephoto

DARIEN, CONN.—This is a general view of the main house on Contentment Island which may be the future home of General Douglas MacArthur and his family. Known as "Shennenere," the estate covers nine acres near the home of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The mansion formerly was owned by J. Sherman Hoyt, 82, retired manufacturer.

Logging Campers Shun Hick Title

LA GRANDE, Ore. — (INS) — "People are always surprised when they come up here for the first time," reports a housewife at the Mt. Emily logging camp in eastern Oregon near La Grande.

"They expect us to be hicks," she said, "and they're surprised to see that we have refrigerators and read books."

Better means of transportation, better roads and the consequent lack of need to change camp sites every year are responsible for the change.

The 50 families at Mt. Emily have lived there an average of about seven years. The camp has been in one place since 1932.

Almost every family has a car to drive to La Grande for entertainment or to shop. But the camp is a self-sufficient community so families are not to dependent upon the city.

Camp life centers around the community hall where the wives arrange card parties and have showers from time to time and where there is an occasional Saturday night dance.

All the homes began as whitewashed boxcars, but how comfortable they are depends largely on a family's initiative. Either the couple or the company build additions as families grow. Many have put in yards and gardens.

Electricity is generated at the camp so families can have all the appliances that go with it.

Children attend the camp's two-room school until they enter high school at La Grande. Mothers say the camp is a healthy place to rear children and healthy for adults too. Hunting, fishing and picnic spots are always nearby.

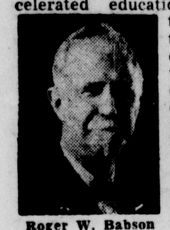
Military Training Program Is Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright, 1951, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 11. —To supplement my recent column, I will give a suggestion as to another solution of the present row between federal draft authorities and U. S. mothers. It is based somewhat on the recommendations of Senator Smathers of Florida.

Long-Range View

I have always held that most privately-endowed, tax-exempt colleges must adopt some form of accelerated education which will train students to work instead of play, or else they must become church controlled and supported, or state controlled, supported by taxation. These privately-endowed colleges are wasting too much of their students' time and money. They will force the opening of government colleges. Now let me expand upon what these government colleges may be like. My comments are based upon a life of experience with educational work.



Roger W. Babson

My Own Experience

During World War II the navy took over Babson Institute and there trained 3,000 men in purchasing, accounting and economics. They had wonderful discipline; they taught more efficiently and, of course, had no promotional expenses. Our regular professors could not stand the strain of the work; finally regular navy officers, trained at Annapolis did the teaching.

A navy captain served as acting president. Our own president resigned; our trustees became dummies; and our instructors were replaced; but the Babson Institute during that period did the finest work in its history. In addition to the men getting a wonderful business education in a few months, they were built up physically and morally. Imagine any endowed college getting its students out on the campus every morning all winter at 6:30 for "setting up" exercises. The students were given no free evenings, except Saturday.

Tough Training Makes Men

But you say: "We can't educate all our boys for war." Of course not.. Yet, no graduate of Annapolis or West Point need remain in the navy or army more than three or four years, respectively, after graduation. It is said that a larger percentage of Annapolis graduates become outstanding businessmen than do the graduates of any state university. Two of my intimate friends were such examples—John W. Weeks, who became Boston's leading banker and later U. S. senator, and Sidney Z. Mitchell, who after leaving an Alabama farm as a bare-footed boy, created the billion dollar Electric Bond & Share company.

A fair question is whether or not this discipline and efficiency could be kept up in peace times. Politics, apparently, has not affected Annapolis or West Point. Another question: If the government had 100 such colleges, could the discipline and standards be kept as high? They perhaps could be, under joint civilian and military control.

Military Colleges Praised

Probably it would be a mistake to make such a shift-over all at once; but the navy, army and air force could each take over a few of the poorly-endowed colleges and try it out—during both war and peace. The present tendency of our "Ivy" colleges to become "country clubs" must be stopped. Most engineering colleges and colleges of business administration would welcome the experiment. Surely, sensible parents would like to see this experiment a success.

The Conant plan of having all boys drop school work entirely at 18 years of age and go into mass military training for two years is wrong. Some boys might make good students after returning, but I doubt if the plan would make them better men. On the other hand, the present haphazard system we now use seems impracticable if we are to be in a "cold war" for ten years more. Another plan is to combine the last year of high school with the first year of college in a 12 month's course of eight hours per day. Or, we could have more colleges like The Citadel of Charleston, S. C., the Virginia Military Institute of Lexington, Va., or the Pennsylvania Military Academy of Chester, Pa. These and others now train efficiently for both war and peace.

Christ Methodists Will Inaugurate Unified Services

Rev. Thomas Caliandro, pastor of Christ Methodist church, South Mill street, announced today that a change would be made in the conduct of services of the church when the unified service plan will be instituted in the South Side church.

The pastor explained that the Sunday school and church would be united for the first portion of the program which would start at 10:30 and then the individual Bible classes would be held following the first services.

Both church members and the Sunday school pupils will unite for the first hour with the regular worship service being conducted by the pastor, when the whole family would join in the service. At 11:30, the group speaking English would go into their class sessions for a half hour of Bible study. At the same hour, the pastor would conduct a service in Italian in the main auditorium of the church.

The plan, the pastor hopes, will eliminate a part of the family going home after the Sunday school hour as is the case now. The new plan of worship worked successfully for 12 years in the pastor's former charge in Portland, Me.

The unified service plan will get under way on May 20. On next Sunday, Mother's Day, various mothers of the church will be honored with flowers and other gifts during the worship service.

Mother Observes 88th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of 913 Dushane street, their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Kalajainen, daughter Nancy, and son Tim, of East New Castle, have returned from Tyrone, where they attended a family dinner on Sunday, celebrating the eighty-eighth birthday anniversary of Mrs. Juniata Smith.

Present were five children, 45 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Ladies of the First Lutheran church of Tyrone served the delicious dinner at the church. Mrs. Smith was the recipient of a number of lovely gifts.

Divisions Over Quota In Cancer Crusade For Funds

Mrs. Blake H. Waldo, co-chairman of the 1951 Lawrence County Cancer Crusade, has announced recently that the city schools returns are now completed and have exceeded their quota for the year.

Dr. Frank L. Burton and Miss Betty Brown again headed the drive for cancer funds in the schools.

Also over their prescribed goal is Neshannock township which was headed by chairman Mrs. Homer Choate.

SMALL BUSINESS

NEW YORK—Small business is women's business today. So says Mrs. Marion Eberly of New York, chairman of a clinic designed to help women go into business on their own. Mrs. Eberly claims that small business enterprises are an answer to many of the problems facing women today. She urges women to investigate their local markets and study their neighborhoods in order to develop businesses which best serve the requirements of local housewives.

News Briefs From City Hall

When Policeman George Hockenberry leaves the police force this week, the department will be shy three of its quota. The department was one short when Sgt. G. C. Syling resigned some time ago. It is likely that council will request Civil Service Commission Secretary Ralph A. Cooper to hold an examination to procure a list of eligibles. The present list expires in June.

M. Metz, 1003 North Cedar street and A. C. Lusk, 409 North Jefferson street, have been granted city permits for construction today. Metz will enclose a front porch and Lusk will build a porch. The former will cost $400, and the latter, $1,000.

Albert A. Hoyland, finance director, who takes over the duties of the mayor when he is absent, presided in police court Friday. He fined one man who is a frequenter of police court $5 for intoxication, another $10 because he caused trouble while intoxicated, and a young man $25, on a disorderly conduct charge.

Although a pistol range was installed in the police garage some time ago, so far, no regular practices have been ordered. However, from time to time, police who are interested in being able to shoot accurately when, and if such an occasion arises, practice firing at the targets

Chief of Police Robert R. Hanna stated he has ordered cruiser police to watch motorists driving in East Washington street at Chestnut street and Florence avenue where accidents have occurred. He also reported arrests are being made for speeding and added that, a "Stop" sign means stop, not merely slow up.

Boy Falls Through Skylight To Death

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—(INS)—Joseph Schrembs, 16, plunged 40 feet to his death last night when a skylight gave way on the roof of a Pittsburgh warehouse where he was searching for a baseball.

The youth's body was found this morning by an employe of the warehouse.

In his fall, the boy missed by only a few feet a pile of paper which might have saved his life. Instead he landed on the concrete floor.

Joseph's mother, Mrs. Agnes Schrembs, said she became worried last night when her son failed to come home and called police and hospitals.

Department of Agriculture scientists have discovered that the first day out chicks thrive best at 94 to 95 degrees.

NATION TAKES TIME OUT TO HONOR ITS MOTHERS

Gloria Swanson and daughter.

Mrs. Douglas MacArthur and son.

Eleanor Roosevelt, children, grandchildren.

Mrs. Eddie Cantor, her husband and five daughters.

Mrs. Harry Truman, daughter.

Margaret Whiting and Debbie.

—International

Among the nation's more prominent mothers being honored this Mother's Day are the six pictured above. Shown with Michelle Bridget Farmer, actress Gloria Swanson, star of the silent movies, has returned to stardom. The wife of Gen. Douglas MacArthur starts for a stroll with son Arthur. Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is shown with three of her children, (from left) sons Franklin, Jr., James and Elliott, and the latter's two children, Elliott, Jr., and Chandler. The five Cantor girls, famed through Eddie's stage and radio shows, are (from left) Margaret, Natalie, Edna, Janet and Marilyn. The First Lady and daughter Margaret are shown in a familiar pose, waving goodby to the President. Singer Margaret Whiting has added lullabies to her repertoire for her daughter Debbie.

First Successful Canning Of Whole Fresh Milk Claimed

EAST STANWOOD, Wash., May 11.—(INS)—The first successful canning of whole fresh milk in history was claimed Thursday by the inventor of a revolutionary process that replaces conventional pasteurization with sterilization.

Dr. Roy R. Graves, 64-year-old scientist who began his experiments with milk preservation for the U.S. Department of Agriculture 22 years ago, said that 2,000 gallons of milk are already being canned daily in East Stanwood under the new process.

The process is regarded as the eventual answer to the marketing of the U.S. milk surplus to world areas where fresh milk is critically needed. The canning, which began March 30, is being done for Alaska, Japan and the armed forces.

Dr. Graves' process differs from pasteurization, worked out by Louis Pasteur, in the degree of heat with which milk is treated and the length of time the heat is applied.

In the Graves sterilization process milk is exposed to a much higher (278 degree) minimum temperature, but for only eight seconds in contrast to the 18 seconds under pasteurization.

The milk is never exposed to air from the time it's taken from the cow until it's sealed in the can. The canning is done in an aseptic atmosphere of super-heated steam under electronic temperature control. The process preserves milk in cans without condensation, evaporation or heavy refrigeration for an estimated six months to a year.

Expect Chicago To Get National G.O.P. Convention

TULSA, Okla., May 11.—(INS)—Republican party leaders—their choice of a 1952 convention site almost overshadowed by worries over the MacArthur issue—are expected to accept today their site committee's unanimous recommendation that the big meeting be held in Chicago the week of July 21.

This would be the first July convention in GOP history. No previous Republican session has been held later than June 26.

The Republican national committee makes the final decision at its first business session today, when spokesmen for Chicago and Philadelphia will argue in behalf have offered $250,000 for the GOP nominating conclave, but Philadelphia promised to furnish an added $35,000 for entertainment expenses.

FARM TRIP

WASHINGTON—(INS)—For the fourth year in a row, a substantial number of American farm boys and girls will go abroad this summer to learn more about rural life and problems in 20 foreign countries. It's all a part of the International Farm Youth Exchange project started in 1948, under which other nations will send a similar number of young people to the United States to live and work with American farm families for a few months.

PIMENTO DECOR

NEW YORK — (INS) — Pimento red is an easy way to make pale foods look more attractive. Just open a little can of pimento and use the contents for decoration. Pimento flavor is also attractive. It adds a mild pepper fillip that contrasts just slightly with the taste of other foods. If you want to be really festive, cut star shapes from canned pimento and use them to garnish salads.

Lawrence Caravan To Have Party At Cathedral Tuesday

Lawrence Caravan of Syria Shrine, A.A.O.N.N.S., is making plans for a splendid party for members and their ladies in The Cathedral Tuesday evening.

This will be a dinner party, starting at 6:30 o'clock, President Harry G. Boyd announces, and A. C. "Kelly" Montgomery is general chairman of the event.

Following dinner, there will be a program of entertainment, with some nice prizes for the members. Ed. Shaughency, of Pittsburgh, will MC a variety program during the evening.

Reservations for the dinner must be in the hands of Chairman Montgomery by Saturday, it is announced.

Tire Engineers Get The 'Pitch'

AKRON, O.—(INS)—A tire engineer pays as much attention to the rhythmic sound produced by tires as a musician does to the tune of a Stradivarius—and they are both interested in the pitch.

Tests are being conducted by B. F. Goodrich engineers to find out at what point tire noise becomes a nuisance and distraction to most drivers. But it isn't that easy, they report, because the occasional rumble or hum of tires means safety to the motorist.

Perfectly noiseles tires could be built tomorrow, says William F. Billingsley, tire design engineer, but only by sacrificing good anti-skid features. He points out that a silent tire would not develop enough fractional force for proper starting, stopping and steering.

In searching for a quiet tire with good anti-skid qualities, Billingsley reports that tire hum has been reduced by "employing smaller design pattern elements, by varying the length of the designs around the tire to set up wave interference patterns, and by designing the tire so that the resulting pitch will be above the normal hearing range."

The two tire sounds least likely to annoy a driver—the "whistle of the wind" or a "swish," he reports.

Turnpike Suit Is Abandoned

Little Beaver Twp. Farmers Agree On Settlement

The "embattled farmers" of Little Beaver township have won their point.

They have abandoned their injunction suit against the D. W. Winkleman Company, builders of the western extension of the turnpike.

The Turnpike Commission has agreed to settle with John Scott and H. A. Leslie, whose farmhouses front on Township Highway 356, the road which must be partially closed.

Road supervisors of Little Beaver township agree to abandon 1.2 miles of Township Road 356, the turnpike building goes on, and everybody is happy.

The injunction hearing was to be resumed before Judge W. Walter Braham Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. DST. The continuance from the previous hearing was granted to permit Harry Crowl Pepper, chief right of way counsel for the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to be present.

Before the hearing, counsel for the turnpike commission, for the road supervisors and for the farmers met and the agreement was reached.

In addition, the hearing by the board of viewers to determine whether or not No. 356 should be closed is abandoned.

The case arose when the turnpike contractor, D. W. Winkleman Company, began blocking off about 200 feet of No. 356 where it is bisected by the turnpike. This shut off the farmers residing on No. 356 from use of the road beyond the turnpike.

For some reason the turnpike commission had not petitioned the Lawrence county court for permission to close the section of 356 until recently. By the time the petition was entered, the contractor was ready to go through and the farmers objected.

Their first defense was to throw a line of farm machinery along the highway blocking the contractor. Their next was an injunction.

In permitting the abandonment of the two actions Judge Braham said, "The court is always happy to discontinue such litigation when an agreement is reached.

"However, it should be remembered that in Lawrence county the rights of everyone must be respected. No one, not even the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission can proceed without due process of law."

Township Road 356 is not an important higway in that it connects two important highways or that it is used generally by the travelling public. It is a dirt road connecting with 37005, which in turn connects with the Enon Valley road.

But to the few farmers along the road it is important for it provided an outlet for them, and in one case was used to get from one part of the Leslie farm to another.

In abandoning the 1.2 miles of the road the township supervisors are cutting off about $125 per year in state aid but they seem to believe that the turnpike was too important to be handicapped, that there would be no wide inconvenience to the travelling public, and therefore agreed to the abandonment.

COLLEGE MANNERS

DETROIT—(INS)—A University of Detroit co-ed has issued some advice on etiquette for male college students. Joyce Daigue claims that male students know less about how to treat a woman than they know about classical Latin. In her column in the campus newspaper she wrote: "If you buy a girl a cup of coffee, be gallant. Don't act as if you'd just given her a yacht."

Local Recruiter Promoted To Sergeant

Headquarters, U. S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting District, Philadelphia, announced this week the promotion of Cpl. P. A. Colia, local recruiting station, to the grade of sergeant.

Sergeant Colia has been affiliated with the recruiting service here in Lawrence county since 1947. Sgt. Colia attended New Castle high school prior to entering the regular army in July of 1940.

Sgt. Colia served with the military police at Governors Island, New York, made the initial assault at Normandy and participated in the Battle of the Bulge.

County Civil Defense Directors Are Named

Reckless Driving Charges Are Made

Owing to numerous accidents on East Washington street in the vicinity of Chestnut street and Florence avenue, police have maintained vigilance there for erring motorists.

As a result, Wilbert M. Pecht, McVeytown, Mifflin county, was arrested by Policemen Weis and Kovcah Thursday evening on a charge of reckless driving. The operators was taken before Alderman J. C. Brice and paid a fine, having pleaded guilty.

A 17-year-old operator of an auto was also taken into custody and he likewise was charged by police with reckless driving yesterday. He was allowed to go home and his case will be presented to juvenile court.

TRAINMAN KILLED

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(INS)—Pennsylvania railroad officials today are investigating the death of a veteran trainman who apparently fell beneath the wheels of the streamliner St. Louisan as it was pulling into the Harrisburg station.

A witness said Joseph P. Miller, 54, of Harrisburg, disappeared as he was lowering the metal steps on the car platform. Miller was found lying on the rails several cars to the rear of the one to which he was attached.

Miller died at Harrisburg hospital last night several hours after the accident.

Officers Named At Convention

Rev. Howard Krause New Vice President

Rev. J. A. Joel, pastor of the Central Christian church of Sharon, was named president of district No. 2 of the Disciples of Christ during their annual convention conducted Thursday at the Central Christian church, Long and Pennsylvania avenues.

Rev. Howard Krause, pastor of the Madison avenue Christian church in the Seventh Ward, was named as vice president of the organization, with Mrs. W. J. Wilcox of the Beaver Falls Christian church named as secretary-treasurer.

The impressive convention program opened at 10 a. m. on Thursday in the South Side church and continued throughout the day, with the deaconesses of the host church serving meals to the convention delegates from the western Pennsylvania district.

Well Arranged Program

Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of First Christian church; Rev. J. N. Rainey, the host pastor, and Rev. Krause all participated in the well arranged program. A feature of the morning service was an hour of timely discussion on the theme, "The Church: Its High Purpose, Its Future, Its Solution".

State officers participating in the program included: Franklyn R. Payne, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Christian Missionary society; Miss Alice Drake, Washington, Pa., state director of Christian education, and Miss Verla M. Ross, also of Washington, who is state secretary of Christian Women's Fellowship.

Dr. W. H. Cramblet, president of Bethany college, Bethany, W. Va., was an interesting evening speaker. The closing convention address was given by Miss Florence Cantrell, missionary to Mexico for the Disciples of Christ.

During the business session the invitaion of the Beaver aFlls Christian church was accepted for the 1952 convention.

Memorial Climbers Warned Against It

OXFORD. — (INS) — The hair-raising feat of climbing the Martyrs Memorial, the 73 foot high tower at Oxford university is unlikely to be repeated by students this term.

University authorities threatened immediate expulsion of any student attempting to emulate the daring of two mountaineering students who crowned the spire with a bedroom utensil last June.

Notices in the colleges read: "Climbing on the Martyrs Memorial is offensive to the religious sentiments of many citizens and in the present state of the structure is liable to result in severe damage both to the monument and the person of the climber."

Martyrs Memorial was built in 1841 to commemmorate the burning at the stake in 1555 of the learned Cranmer, Latimer and Ridly.

TAKE WHEELBARROW, BIKE

John Brinton, 303 Winter avenue, reported a wheelbarrow and bicycle were taken from his property yesterday.

United Is Given Award

For its cooperation with the Economic Cooperation Administration, better known as the Marshall Plan, the United Engineering & Foundry Company has been awarded a "Certificate of Cooperation," a reproduction of which is shown above.

The certificate is in recognition of the United Engineering's cooperation in furnishing technical assistance to Marshall Plan countries "to aid them in maintaining liberty, free institutions and peace." The certificate was presented by the ECA Administrator, William C. Foster.

Through the sponsorship of ECA, United has furnished the machinery as well as the technical assistance for the majority of the post war steel mill installations in various countries in Europe as well as in England.

Swing Lobby Will Be Held Tonight

In The Open

The countryman long ago learned to take the weather as it comes. When his weekly tour of duty at the desk is completed, and he turns eagerly to his weekend escape in the countryside, his enjoyment is often rudely dampened as storm clouds roll across the hills and the probing lightning seeks out his woodland lair. This is all part of the outdoors picture—part of the fascination of the wayside trails which keep the confirmed hiker ever young in spirit, no matter how much his ageing muscles complain.

But this year so far has been a severe trial to the countryman's usual tolerance of weather vagaries. Here it is the second week in May and not a furrow turned in the big garden below the house! Not even an onion planted. Since late in March rain and still more rain have poured from a seemingly bottomless reservoir. The farmer turns one trial furrow, finds the soil gummy and loses another week.

Business As Usual

Despite the steady procession of thunder showers across the land, business as usual is the order of the day in the thickets. The first wave of spring flowers in the woodlands has faded from the scene. Right now is the heyday of the violet clan. Never have the big purple fellows put on a braver show, and the loamy hillsides are starred with blooms of the yellow and white varieties.

During May the countryman takes his field glasses along and renews acquaintance with the gorgeous members of the warbler tribe—those bright-colored feathered jewels who come through during the month on their way to their nesting haunts. Some of them stop off, but most head for the Hudson Bay country.

Between showers the sun made a valiant effort during the weekend and I headed for an abandoned orchard on a hillside which edges a large reservoir. This should be good warbler terrain, if the birds were on the move. I parked the car and cruised back through the trees, with a weather eye on the low bushes edging the dam.

Just then another bank of clouds rolled in and the sun disappeared for the rest of the day. But even in the poor light I was able to pin down the little bird actively feeding in the willows as the myrtle warbler. His bright yellow rump and the white throat patch could be plainly seen.

There were several pairs of blue-gray gnatcatchers bustling about in the thickets. This tiny bird is quite common in my hiking territory, which is about his northern limit. He looks like a miniature mocking bird, and makes enough noise for a bird twice his size. His peevish alarm note is never forgotten, once it is heard.

I walked clear back to the head of the dam, noting the large-flowered bellwort in bloom among the trilliums in the woods, and arousing the ire of a pileated woodpecker, who called me names from a hidden stronghold in the big trees. There were all sorts of tiny birds on the move, but the light was so bad I could not name them with any certainty.

Back at the breast of the dam I faced into the cold breeze and watched the magnificent flight performance of an aggregation of swallows and swifts. There was a hatch of brownish "May-flies" dancing everywhere and the birds were taking a heavy toll.

The next afternoon I tried again for warblers in a wooded ravine not far from the house. Again the sun proved fickle, and in two hours afield gave me perhaps a half hour's service. But during that interlude I pinned down the fire-throated Blackburnian warbler in a greening ash. The flaming orange throat makes this bird unmistakable.

A scarlet tanager flew through the trees, his new coat glowing like a red hot cinder. One of the nervous Louisiana water thrushes teetered along the rocky stream ahead of me.

Golden ragwort was in flower in the ravine, and wild geranium, and the little bishop's cap.

RANK SHELVES

NEW YORK—(INS)—To determine the rank of a nobleman during the Middle Ages, Johnson Wax researchers point out, one simply had to count the shelves on a castle owner's dresser. A baron was limited to two shelves, a count to three, while a prince enjoyed top-drawer ranking with four shelves.

St. Louis Solves Sitters' Problem

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Getting a reliable and trustworthy baby sitter in St. Louis today is just as easy as saying hello.

All you do is pick up the phone and your precious cherubs are soon under the care of experts who probably fondled infants when you yourself were wearing three-cornered pants.

The baby-sitting service, which operates only in St. Louis, is a "first" for any public agency anywhere. It is being run by the Missouri State Employment Service, the free employment service of the Missouri division of employment security.

Many of the 175 baby sitters now in the service's card file are in the seventies, but most are between 50 and 65. To qualify as a "preferred" sitter one must be at least 35-years-old.

The service recently took out what is believed to be the first "honesty bond for baby sitters" ever issued anywhere in the world. It provides up to $2500 indemnity to the person hiring the sitter in the unlikely event of stealing. It covers 350 sitters—the expected number by the end of 1951.

The annual $140 premium was put up by a collection among the service's employes.

Not only are state employment officials anxious to please parents; they feel just as obligated toward the baby-sitters.

Prospective employers are investigated almost as thoroughly as the sitters themselves.

State officials invite complaints about their elderly charges. But they also check with the sitter after each job to make sure that she was pleased with the surroundings and conditions of her employment.

BIRD CHASER

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — The film industry has produced many odd jobs and one of the oddest is the post held by Quincy Puckett. Puckett describes his job as being "strictly for the birds" and he gets $87.50 a week for it. For 20 years he's made his living at 20th Century-Fox by scaring the birds away from outdoor movie sets.

INSURANCE

CHICAGO — (INS) — The value of most jewelry has increased 10 to 15 percent in the last year and 150 percent in the last ten years. An insurance executive warns that owners of this type of jewelry should check their insurance policies to see if they have adequate insurance. In many cases, cautions John A. Arnold, vice president of National Retailers Mutual Insurance company, they will find that valuables such as rings are under-insured by as much as 50 percent of current value, especially if they were purchased several years ago.

MOTHERS-DAUGHTERS BANQUET ENJOYED

An enjoyable get-together was held by members of the Pennsylvania Epsilon Gamma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, Pennsylvania Tau chapter of Nu Phi Mu, their Mothers, and First Ladies of the Year, Mrs. John Elliott, and Mrs. Roy A. Long, Wednesday evening in the Guild room of Trinity Episcopal church.

The event marked the annual mother-daughters banquet, shared jointly by the sororities.

Places were arranged for 53 at the U-saped tables which were colorfully decorated with Maypole centerpieces in yellow and green, with character dolls "dancing" around the Maypoles. Yellow candles further enhanced the attractive settings. Each place card was marked with a yellow rosebud, the flower of Beta Sigma Phi, and nut cups in the sape of full blown yellow roses were filled with candies. Mrs. Howard Frew of Beta was responsible for the decorations.

Mrs. John Thompson was the genial toastmistress for the evening. Invocation was given by Mrs. Donald McCormick. After the dinner Mrs. Thompson welcomed the group. "Toast to Mothers" was given by Mrs. John Morrow, Jr., president of Nu Phi Mu, and Mrs. E. C. Miller, president-elect of Beta, gave the "Toast to Daughters." Mrs. George Getty proposed a "Toast to the sponsors and Directors." Nu Phi Mu members sang their sorority's "Song of Friendship," accompanied by Miss Marilyn Mikels. Miss Mary Stitt sang the Beta Sigma Phi hymn, accompanied by Miss Alyene Carrick. Mrs. John Elliott and Mrs. Roy A. Long spoke briefly.

A pageant was held honoring mothers, with Mrs. Howard Frew acting as commentator. Awards were presented to Mrs. Homer Thompson as the oldest mother; Mrs. Irene Ziegler as the youngest grandmother; Mrs. George Buttermore as the mother-in-law with the most married children; Mrs. John DeGarmo as the newest mother. Mrs. Robert Capitola reigned as the royal princess. Miss Mary Stitt was the soloist.

Court of honor included Mrs. Donald Copson, Mrs. Robert Meister, Miss Joan Kilch and Mrs. Russell Barge, Jr.

Mrs. Howard Frew, Mrs. Donald Copson and Mrs. Robert Meister composed the committee in charge of the delightful evening.

DAVE LEWIS HONORED BY CENTRAL CHOIR

Central Christian church choir, Long avenue, honored its director, Dave Lewis, on Wednesday evening, following the regular practice session of the choir conducted in the church.

The practice was the last one for Mr. Lewis who has been faithfully directing the choral group for the past 21 years. He and Mrs. Lewis are leaving next week to make their home with their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Lewis of Canton, Ohio.

The surprise farewell reception was participated in by 25 members of the music group of the church. During the business meeting, presided over by Miss Mary E. Norris, president, the pastor, James N. Rainey took the floor when items of new business were called for. He directed a number of well chosen words to Mr. Lewis commending him for the excellent job he has performed over the years. The pastor presented the departing choir leader with a watch from the members of the choir.

Miss Norris presented Mrs. Lewis with a suitable gift also from members of the choir as a token of their affection for her over the years. Committee for the successful reception, included: Mrs. Henry Jenkins, Mrs. Dan Garrity, Mrs. Isaac Davis, Mrs. Coy Price and Mrs. Philip Moore.

Candlelight Club

Candlelight club met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Russo of McCready Way, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Nicholas Miron, president, conducted the business meeting. Plans were completed for the anniversary dinner of the club to be held May 26 at a Harlansburg dining room. The club will celebrate its third anniversary and husbands of the members will be special guests of the evening.

Cards were the diversion of the evening with high score awards going to Mrs. Dono DeLorenzo and Mrs. Joseph DeLorenzo. The door prize was won by Mrs. William Humphrey.

Delicious full-course chicken dinner was served by the hostess aided by Mrs. Joseph Fava.

Eight Spots Meeting

Mrs. William Book of Boyles avenue was hostess to the Eight Spots club Wednesday evening. Mrs. Ken McMasters was a special guest.

Games of 500 were played with high score winners, Mrs. Paul McConnell and Mrs. Ken McMasters, awarded prizes.

Plans were completed for a trip to Youngstown, O., for dinner and the theater on May 18. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Next meeting will held at the home of Mrs. John Kerr on the East Brook-Harbor road May 23.

Directors Of G.N.C.A. Meet

New President Of Board Jas. A. Rugh Conducts Session

James A. Rugh, recently elected president of the Greater New Castle Association presided at his first meeting of the Board of Directors Thursday night in the organization offices in the Castleton hotel.

Eben L. Reid reported to the board the activities since the last meeting, plans of future work, and discussed current affairs of the association.

Re-elect Directors

Norman A. Clark and Jack R. Boyle, were re-elected as directors of Division 17, the Ctiizens' Division. These places are the two the board fills and the two men mentioned were again re-elected.

The resignation of G. Ward Whittaker as a director was received and accepted with regret. Mr. Whittaker is leaving New Castle and because of this will not be able to serve as a director. In his place George Crawford, vice president of the Universal-Rundle corporation was named.

A resolution of appreciation of the services of J. Lepere Matthews was passed. Mr. Matthews was long active in the GNCA, served as a director and two terms as president.

Investigate Route Proposal

President Rugh appointed Paul W. Keely and John R. Preston a committee to explore further the possibilities of having Route 18 rebuilt through to New Castle from Homewood instead of stopping at Moravia. This action follows some work done by the GNCA in the recent suggestion of the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association chapter here, urging that the highway be rebuilt through to New Castle.

Secretaries of the Sharon and Greenville Chambers of Commerce informed the board of their interest in the project and of their willingness to co-operate to bring about the result wanted.

The matter of federal housing came before the board and Mr. Reid told of a number of meetings he had held with various groups and of the possibility of the Public Housing Administration sending a man into New Castle to discuss the idea.

Enemy Casualties In April Drive Are Estimated At 68,102

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—The army estimated today that United Nations forces killed, wounded or captured 47,935 Chinese Reds and 20,167 North Koreans between April 21 and 30.

Total enemy casualties during the period, which included the big communist offensive, was placed at 68,102.

This brought enemy casualties since the start of the Korean war to 893,662, of which 534,146 were North Korean and 359,615 were Chinese.

Asks Aid Of State In Nabbing Tax Evading Racketeers

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(INS)—Gov. John S. Fine's help was solicited today by U. S. Treasury Secretary John Snyder in nabbing tax evading racketeers.

A spokesman for Fine said the governor's office had received Snyder's letter which urged a follow-up on "the work of the Kefauver committee investigation" but pointed out that the chief executive is not expected to make a decision until Monday or later.

The U. S. internal revenue bureau is setting up 117 special squads throughout the nation to check for tax violations by racketeers and gamblers.

Man Rescued Three Days After Crash Has Leg Amputated

SOMERSET, Pa., May 11.—(INS)—Richard Adair, 23, who waited three days to be rescued after he was seriously injured in a plane crash near Somerset, was reported in a satisfactory condition today following removal of his left leg.

The Danville, Ill., youth suffered a broken leg and other injuries when the light passenger plane crashed in the Allegheny mountains last Saturday. When he was rescued the following Tuesday by Surveyors, his broken leg had become gangrenous and doctors at the Somerset Community Hospital said they were forced to amputate.

The pilot of the plane, Robert Seymour, also of Danville, was killed instantly in the crash.

Mrs. Norton To Speak To Convention Of Democratic Women

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—(INS)—Mrs. Mary Norton, former congresswoman from New Jersey, will be the principal speaker tonight at the annual convention dinner of the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women.

Some 600 persons are expected to attend the dinner which will highlight the tree-day meeting which ends tomorrow with selection of new officers and the 1952 convention sight.

Mrs. Helen D. Sutton, 39-year-old Democratic leader of Easton, Pa., has been mentioned as a strong candidate to succeed Mrs. John J. Kane of Pittsburgh as president of the organiation.

Other speakers tonight include Mrs. Emma Miller, national Democratic committeewoman, Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, and Commissioner John J. Kane of Allegheny county.

Believes British Will End Recognition Of Communistic China

LONDON, May 11.—(INS)—The diplomatic writer of the London Daily Telegraph said today that a formal ending of Britain's de Jure recognition of the Communist Chinese regime at Peiping seems inevitable.

The writer said this is the probability in view of Britain's decision to support the proposal in the United Nations for a world-wide arms embargo against China.

Sea-Going Women Get Beauty Works

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — Most women get the works at a beauty shop before going on a trip. But Mabel Day goes on the trip to give women beauty.

She's a sea-going beautician, head of the beauty shop aboard the luxury liner President Wilson. Mabel made her first "beauty run" after a San Francisco department store arranged to take over the beauty salons on all the company's ships.

Miss Day spent 42 days on the first cruise voyage to the Far East. Between shampoos, henna packs, manicures, eye arches and permanent waves, she found plenty of time for relaxing and sightseeing.

She gave something like 300 beauty treatments during the 42 days but found each one a pleasure. She says:

"It was the customers. They were wonderful—so happy and cheerful all of them—something you can't say on shore."

COZY CASTLES

NEW YORK — (INS) — Castles during medieval times were a lot cozier than most people gave them credit for, according to Johnson Wax researchers. Lavish use of tapestry, brightly colored leather hangings and embroidered cushions did much to encourage that stay-at-home feeling.

Head Of Britain's Railways In U.S. To Study Operation

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. — (INS) — John Eliot, chief of Britain's nationalized railways, was in Philadelphia today to study the operation of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

He said yesterday there was "no prospect" Britain would abandon the experiment in government-owned rails that it undertook in 1947.

Eliot pointed out government unification of Britain's rails had cut costs by $33,600,000 a year, but it still had operated at a deficit in three years.

Woman Hurt In Bus Wreck Passes Away

WEIRTON, W. Va., May 11.—(INS)—Mrs. Mary Bindas, 64, injured in a bus wreck in Weirton April 29, died yesterday.

She became the 13th victim of the accident to die, the 12th victim, Kozunor Machneckim, 40, died Wednesday.

Some 35 persons injured in the accident are still in the hospital, three of them on the critical list.

National Staff Trichologist

COME WHEN IT'S MOST CONVENIENT FOR YOU! WE'LL ANALYZE YOUR SCALP TROUBLES ABSOLUTELY FREE! WE'LL EXPLAIN NEW HOME TREATMENT THAT HELPS YOU GROW THICKER, STRONGER HAIR—AT HOME! SEE IF YOU CAN ANSWER THESE "BALD" QUESTIONS.

1. Do you believe that baldness is due to heredity?
2. Do you believe that baldness is due to age?
3. Do you believe that baldness cannot be prevented?

These are just a few popular misconceptions of the "tonic" age. Hair can be regrown by repeated HAIR EXPERT HOME treatments—fact that's been proven by leading HAIR EXPERTS Trichologists for many years. In most cases of thinning hair or baldness, there's a definite scalp disorder that's blocking the growth of normal, healthy hair.

NO CURE-ALL

The home scalp treatment offered by HAIR EXPERTS is no "cure-all." For that reason we do not prescribe treatment without first making a thorough, personal scalp examination!

PERSONALIZED TREATMENT

After we have examined your scalp HAIR EXPERTS send you medication and treatment instructions to correct your personal scalp condition. These medications are created for your particular scalp disorder. AND you treat yourself, right in the privacy of your own home!

RESULTS QUICK

You'll quickly notice results from HAIR EXPERTS treatment. In most cases, just a few weeks are necessary to cleanse the scalp of all disorders and start a thick growth of hair, kill the bacteria and correct disorders.

LEARN FACTS

Learn the facts of baldness. Stop in at THE CASTLETON HOTEL to see Trichologist J. J. CAREY. You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way. And if you decide to take HAIR EXPERTS Home Treatment, you'll find the fee very reasonable.

Name May 24 For Annual Meeting Date Of Red Cross

John R. Preston, chapter chairman of the Lawrence County Red Cross, has announced that the annual meeting of the chapter has been set for May 24, at 6:30 p.m., in the Epworth Methodist church.

This year will mark the 70th anniversary of the founding of the American National Red Cross and the 34th anniversary of the Lawrence County Chapter.

The agenda will include the election of officers and board members. Mrs. Louise McConnell, executive secretary of the chapter, has stated that they are breaking tradition this year by not having a guest speaker, but that they will pay tribute to those loyal volunteers who have so faithfully served the chapter through the years.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Tone Deaf?

"Why can't I sing like the other kids?" Jo Anne asked her mother. "I like to sing but the teacher says I don't sing the tune and makes me sit clear in the back of the room."

It is true that some children don't seem to be able to carry a tune very well. Just why is a mystery to us. But of one thing we can be sure. Tone-deaf children can learn to sing with an at least passable performance.

Our twins are a case in point. Even before they went into the first grade, we noticed that a song had a different tune every time they sang it. Before long they became aware that they didn't sing as well as most of the other children.

And then we were in for it. Whenever we were out in the car, you could be sure they would ask us to help them. I'll never forget "The Bear Went Over the Mountain," for that was the one on which we practiced. If they went up when they should have gone down, we would lower our hands; if they went down when it should have been up, we raised them.

Whether it was this, help from school or just gradual maturing, they can now sing folk songs and other simple popular songs well enough to enjoy group singing. And something of this sort seems to be the experience of most children who keep on trying.

Appeared U.N. Evacuation From Korea Once Desired

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Gen. MacArthur's spokesman said Thursday that Washington appeared to want a U. N. evacuation from Korea for political reasons last January but MacArthur refused to let the Eighth Army be made a scapegoat.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney issued a lengthy statement challenging some interpretations of President Truman's "act with prudence" message to the since-deposed Far Eastern commander.

He said that upon reading the missive MacArthur immediately launched the holdfast campaign with instructions to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway to "throw the word evacuation out of the dictionary."

The President's message, he said, was taken by MacArthur to be plain in meaning that the war should be continued to the hilt. This was in contrast to the general's previous understanding about which he said:

"You must understand that prior to the receipt of the message it appeared to be the prevailing view in Washington that our forces should be evacuated from Korea as soon as diplomatic discussions then underway in the United Nations had been concluded.

Political Advantage

"It seemed to be the prevailing view of Washington authorities that of the evacuation was concluded as the result of enemy pressure some political advantage would be served."

The President's message to which he referred was read in part at yesterday's Senate foreign policy probe in Washington and as related by Sen. Saltonstall (R) Mass., said:

"The President emphasized that pending the build-up of our national strength we must act with great prudence insofar as extending the area of hostilities was concerned."

Whitney said Army Chief of Staff Collins who was in Tokyo at the time, disagreed with some parts of MacArthur's interpretation but Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff sided with MacArthur.

The President, he said, lauded MacArthur for his splendid leadership.

MacArthur, Whitney continued, "refused in conversations with Gen. Collins to be a party to stigmatize the Eighth Army by having it said the Eighth Army was forced out of Korea under enemy pressure to serve a political purpose if such was not militarily the case."

Veterans Of Korea Will Get Privileges Declares President

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—President Truman said today that veterans of the Korean conflict should and will get the same veterans' privileges as the men who fought in the second world war.

Mr. Truman said new legislation is needed, however, to extend those privileges to the veterans of the present conflict—an undeclared war.

The president's attention was called to the plight of a Korean veteran who sought treatment in Arizona, but was denied entry to a VA hospital because the present law does not cover the Korean struggle.

Mr. Truman said the Veterans Administration had to follow the law, however regretful and unfortunate the situation.

He said, however, that the men in service in the Korean conflict should and will be given the privileges of other veterans. He said that action should be taken by congress.

New York Police Graft Expose Rocks Big City

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

NEW YORK, May 11.—The New York police department's "bushel baskets" graft expose rocked the nation's largest city and spurred top officials into action.

The amazing and sordid revelation that 77 policemen were allegedly involved in the $20,000,000-a-year bookmaking syndicate of Harry Gross and the naming of 21 of them as taking the bookie's cash "in bushel baskets" created a furor.

It was the biggest police scandal since the infamous Lt. Charles Becker tried to take over New York's gambling dens and wound up in the electric chair for murder early in the century.

Developments

Latest developments were:

1. Thirty-two alleged police "puppets" of bookmaker Gross faced ouster from the police department.

2. Plans were speeded for trial of 19 others aimed at sending them to jail as grafters.

3. Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy personally took a hand in the situation.

4. Brooklyn District Attorney Miles McDonald pressed a separate campaign to cleanse the city of crooked cops.

The graft disclosures stunned Mr. Average Citizen. By spreading around "bushel baskets" of the graft totaling $1,000,000 a year, Gross actually ran a major portion of the police department, accord ing to a Kings county indictment naming 21 cops as defendants and 56 ohers as co-conspirators.

The indictment said that Gross moved policemen around at will as he buttered the fingers of their superiors, reading up to the top men in the police commissioner's office during the regime of former Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Century-Long Dispute About Evangeline Is Settled By Historian

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—(INS)—A century-long dispute about the exact place where Evangeline was reunited with her dying lover, Gabriel, in Longfellow's famed poem was settled today.

Richmond P. Miller, secretary of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania, said research has proved the scene was set in Pennsylvania hospital at Eighth and Spruce streets, Philadelphia.

Previously, the honor had been claimed by the Society of Friends for a Friends' almshouse, then on Walnut street.

The amicable dispute arose shortly after Longfellow wrote "Evangeline" in 1847—some 20 years following a visit to Philadelphia. During the visit the poet said he was impresesd by the serenity of a certain institution. But the description he gave fitted both Pennsylvania hospital and the Friends' almshouse, and in the poem he referred to the place as "The Almshouse".

Miller said a subsequent study has shown without doubt that Longfellow was referring to the Pennsylvania hospital, which celebrates its 200th anniversary tomorrow as the nation's first hospital.

State Payments To Municipalities For Roads Are Made

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(INS)—The State Highways Department today certified payment June 1 of $2,469,681 to 2447 municipalities in Pennsylvania for expenditures on local roads.

Comptroller Fred F. Lloyd said 50 cities will receive $537,838; 895 boroughs, $526,403; 60 first class townships, $168,684, and 1442 second class townships, $1,236,755.

Payments totaling $30,318 will be made following receipts of reports from 46 boroughs, one first class township and 26 second class townships, Lloyd said.

Ellwood City Annual Dinner

Chamber Of Commerce Event Attended By More Than 500 Persons

If the Sons of Italy dining hall in Ellwood City held more people there would have been more present Thursday night when the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce held its 25th annual dinner.

As it was the hall was crowded to the last inch of capacity with more than 150 unable to attend because of lack of space. About 530 attended with many guests from other cities.

Ray Johnson toastmaster

Ray D. Johnson served as toastmaster with R. A. Young, president of the Chamber making the address of welcome. Mr. Young recited some of the accomplishments of the Chamber in the past years, the influx of new industries due to its work and the plans for the coming year.

One of Lawrence County's outstanding industrial and civic leaders, William L. Dean, president of Matthews Conveyor Company was honored with an achievement plaque.

The plaque was for 'counsel and guidance to the Chamber of Commerce and to Ellwood City." Unfortunately, Mr. Dean was unable to be present because of illness, but in his place his wife, and son, William L., Jr., accepted the plaque from Dr. J. K. Painter who made the presentation.

Russell J. "Denny" Schill, secretary of the Chamber introduced out-of-town guests. A number of county and boro officials were present.

Among visiting industrialists present was Lou Mervice, president of the Cavert Wire Company who said he expected to have the plant in production shortly.

"Sunshine" Gene Stack, of New York, a humorist was the principal speaker of the evening and kept the audience in good humor with his remarks. During the dinner an orchestra provided dinner music.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER PROGRAM

Approximately 100 persons attended the mother-daughter program Wednesday night at the Presbyterian church.

The invocation was given by Mrs. H. W. Marshall. A clarinet duet, "Bless This House" was played by Janice Hennon and Phyllis Shelatree; a trio, Phyllis Vance, Janice Marshall and Thelma Jackson; a reading, "Mother", Mrs. J. D. Shelatree, and vocal solo, "My Mother's Prayer", Eleanor Wilson.

Mrs. J. Ellis Bel lof Ellwood City was the speaker and gave several poems suitable to the occasion. Her daughter, Jane, also favored with a recitation.

At the conclusion of the program delicious refreshments were served by the social committee of the Boethian Circle with Mrs. Nida Dickson and Mrs. Roy McKim in charge.

INTRODUCING FIANCE

"I am a constant reader of your column and find it very interesting.

"My daughter who has recently become engaged still introduces her intended husband as her 'boy friend' and he introduces her as his 'girl friend'. I have told them that this is not correct but I am not sure just what is correct. Will you publish in your column just what is the proper way for them to introduce one another?"

Answer: They may use the designation fiance (male) and fiancee (female)—but both pronounced fee-an-say; or, if they prefer—Miss Smith and Mr. Jones, entirely eliminating titles. "Boy friend" and "girl friend" should not be used.

Question: I am having an informal church wedding to which I am sending hand-written invitations. In writing the address on an invitation going to an unmarried brother and sister who live together should both names appear on the outside envelope? If not, which should appear on the outside?

Answer: Each must receive a separate invitation. Two unmarried sisters may be sent a joint invitation addressed to "Misses Mary and Jane Smith" and a group of small children in one family may likewise receive one joint invitation. Otherwise, as stated, guests must be sent individual invitations.

Question: I would like to know the correct way to eat these kinds of chicken: barbecue, fried and chicken with rice. Some say it is correct to eat them with fork and knife and others say they should be eaten with the fingers. I am sure that you know the correct way and I'm anxious to find out.

Answer: They should be eaten with fork and knife, always.

Man Kicked By Cow; Leg Broken

Harry Werner, aged 38 years, of R. D. 7, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 10 o'clock Thursday morning for injuries received in a peculiar accident at his farm.

Mr. Werner was kicked by a cow, suffering a fracture of the right leg. He was able to leave the hospital after treatment.

TOSSED GREEN SALAD IDEAL MEAL PICK UP

It is time to give your meals a quick pick-up. A crisp green tossed salad with a tangy French dressing is an easy pick-up.

Always wash the greens carefully with cold water, and use only crisp young greens. Cut away wilted and bruised sections, then wrap in a damp towel or put in an airtight vegetable bag and place in the refrigerator or other cold place. Be sure the greens are well-chilled by the time you are ready to make the salad. Prepare the salad just before serving so it will be cool and crisp.

The dressing you use is important to the success of the salad. French dressing is especially good with a tossed green salad. Here is a standard recipe:

French Dressing

(1½ cups)

1 cup salad oil
⅓ to ½ cup vinegar
1 to 3 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon dry mustard
1 clove garlic (if desired).

Put all ingredients into a bottle or jar. Cover tightly and shake well. Chill several hours; remove garlic if used. Shake well before using.

For variety in flavor add 2 tablespoons catsup, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and 1 table spoon lemon juice. Especially good with a tossed green salad is crumbled Roquefort or Bleu cheese, about 3 tablespoons, mixed with French dressing.

DUSTER IS PRACTICAL GARMENT THIS SEASON

If ever there was a coat with nine lives, the duster is it. Dusters are easy to make, too, for there are only a few seams and fitting is not hard.

The fashion for dusters has grown rapidly. Starting with the classic denim or linen duster with pointed convertible collar, long sleeves with turn-back cuffs, big pockets, and pyramid fullness, the duster is an around the clock garment. You can start the day wearing a duster that will serve both as a housecoat and a utility coat. Prints, plaids, denims, piques and embossed cottons are excellent fabrics for they have body enough to serve as a housecoat and a utility coat, in the form of a duster.

To complete the daytime outfit for shopping, traveling, or dress-up occasions, choose a duster of shantung, faille, linen, or taffeta. If you want a dressier duster for evening wear, select one of lace or organdy.

Some of the style details seen on dusters this season include above-the-elbow cuffed sleeves, mandarin collars, slit seams, and fullness in the back of yoke.

WHY WOMEN STAND TO IRON

Most ironing boards in homes are not suited to "sit-down work." That is one reason why women continue to stand while they iron.

A recently conducted study made at one of the New England Experiment Stations revealed that most homes have folding ironing boards with crisscross supports. This gives only a minimum of space for the knees of a person when she is seated. Also few homes have chairs convenient for sitting at the ironing board. Most chairs are too low.

Walmo School Art Exhibit Attracts Many

Second annual art exhibit of the pupils of the Walmo school, under the direction of Mrs. Rachel McClymonds, art instructor, attracted over 400 persons Thursday evening.

Including pupils of the Hillsville school and various other groups that visited the exhibit earlier, it is estimated that close to 1,000 persons came to view the work of the pupils.

The art work was exhibited in the halls of the basement and the recreation rooms. Drawings and paintings by the pupils of different grades were set up in the hall and a circus of model animals, etc. was set up in the recreation room.

Included in the exhibits in the hall were constructions of animals, trains, automobiles, figures, etc., made of wood and other materials, arranged on tables below the drawings on the walls.

The circus was an elaborate scene of animals of all kinds, clowns, freaks and other figures, all made by the pupils from paper, clay and many other materials. Many of the animals and figures were life size and remarkably lifelike.

All that saw the exhibit seemed amazed at the work turned out by these pupils of grades 1-7. Included in the visitors were instructors from other district schools and students of district colleges. All were high in their praise of the exhibit.

The exhibit will remain up until next Tuesday, it is announced by Thomas P. Smathers, principal. Any persons that have not yet seen it are urged to visit the school at any time during school hours.

Would Take Same Action On MacArthur Again, Says Marshall

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Marshall declared today that if he had to do it over again he would support President Truman's summary dismissal of Gen. MacArthur.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, questioning Marshall, demanded:

"In view of what has happened since the relief of Gen. MacArthur, would you support the action taken and the method by which it was taken?"

Marshall replied:

"That is a hypothetical question, senator, and I do not think it is a very fair one, but I would say, yes."

Marshall added that he had "foreseen" public turmoil over MacArthur's dismissal.

Dawson Again Before Probers

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—Presidential adviser Donald Dawson tries again today to convince a Senate sub-committee that his influence had nothing to do with RFC loans.

Dawson denied exerting influence Thursday, but the senators remain unconvinced, and asked him to testify again today.

Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., chairman of the sub-committee investigating the part influence and political pressure played in the granting of loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corp., said that he felt Dawson's testimony so far has "supported the facts" uncovered by the sub-committee.

But, Fulbright added, "Mr. Dawson arrives at different conclusions than we do."

Union P.T.A. Will Meet On Tuesday

Mrs. Connerly of the Union township P. T. A. has announced the program scheduled for the meeting of the Union P. T. A. on May 15 at eight p. m. in the school.

Beginning at eight the United Engineering chorus, under the direction of Mr. Jones, will entertain with a group of selected numbers.

Following the chorus a business meeting will be held and new officers for the coming year will be installed.

Students from the schools in the township will participate in and present art exhibits under the direction of Miss Kisthart, director of the township art departments.

It has been estimated that erosion destroys the equivalent of half a million acres of U. S. farm land every year.

California farmers are the largest users of aerial crop dusters in the United States.

Two Philadelphia Youths Are Given 50 To 100 Year Terms

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. —(INS)—Two Philadelphia youths today were sentenced to terms of 50 to 100 years in Eastern Penitentiary for participating in a series of holdups.

Judge Charles L. Guerin imposed the stiff sentences upon Joseph Baranowski, 19, and Robert Cullen, 20.

The pair pleaded guilty to three holdups and a jury convicted them of two others, in one of which a woman was shot in the chest during the stickup of a West Philadelphia seafood shop.

Both youths had previous police records and Baranowski admitted on the witness stand that he "smoked reefers."

Fire Cistern Gives Farmers Protection

URBANA, Ill.—(INS)—A farmer's best protection against fire loss is an easily-constructed, concrete fire cistern, according to Frank Andrew, University of Illinois agricultural engineer.

The biggest problem in fighting farm fires, Andrew pointed out, is having enough water to do an effective job. The fire cistern answers this problem. An adequate 3,000 gallon cistern of reinforced watertight concrete would cost about $400, and would be well worth the expense if used to extinguish only one small fire. For the average farm fire loss in Illinois for 1944-'48 was $2,400.

In addition, if a farmer lives in a Class A fire protection district, his fire insurance rates will be cut $.60 per $1,000 by having a cistern. This means a saving of $30 per year on $50,000 worth of insurance.

Andrew recommends locating the cistern at least 50 feet away from any other building. It should be underground, the top flush with the surface. A 3,000 gallon cistern would measure six by seven by ten feet in size. It can be filled with rain water or by a pressure system drawing from the farm well. Separate wiring is recommended for the cistern. Then if other electrical circuits are damaged, the fire fighting equipment stays in operation.

Indians Open Three-Game Series With Butler Here Saturday

Indians Idled By Rain Thursday, Lead League By Half-Game Today

New Castle's rambunctious Indians idled by wet grounds and rain at Youngstown last night, find themselves enjoying a half-game lead, in the "Mid-Atlantic League" today.

The Erie Sailors handed Niagara Falls a double set-back last night in the only games played—Lockport at Butler was called off by cold weather. Erie won 5-0, 11-4.

Weather permitting the Indians are slated for a single game at Youngstown tonight. Game time at Idora Park, 8:15 o'clock.

Butler Tigers Here Saturday

The Butler Tigers will move into Flaherty Memorial Field Saturday night for a three-game stand. The Saturday game at 8 p.m., the Sunday game at 2:30, and the Monday game at 8:30.

The Butler team vastly improved over the club that the Indians laced twice in the opening series at Butler will come here for revenge. The Tigers whipped the highly regarded Erie Sailors two games out of a three-game series, recently.

Manager Al Milnar will use Ben Rossman tonight at Youngstown, and will open with Lee Bickel, the rookie, against Butler here Saturday night.

Must Cut Down Squad

The Indians are forced by the league to cut their squad down to 17 players by Sunday midnight. Just who Manager Milner has slated to go is not known at the moment. The Indians have 18 men under contract at present.

It is definitely known that Milnar would like to secure a couple of experienced pitchers for the club. Rossman, Zedalis, Ciske, Bickle and Miskiewicz have been carrying the pitching burden. Jerry Hyder has been signed as a pitcher but has not appeared in a game to date.

Face Tough Road Trip

Following the Butler series here the New Castle club will be away for a six-day jaunt—playing four at Erie, and four at Niagra Falls, eight games in all in six days, a double-header at both towns. The Indians return home Monday, May 21 with Erie here for a three-game series.

An eight-game road trip is going to be tough on the Indains' pitching staff providing they run into too much trouble. To play the kind of a schedule the Inidans are called on to do, it will require at least a six-man pitching staff.

Former New Castle Greats Gain Head Coaching Berths

Former New Castle athletic greats, Johnny Uram and Alex "Chinkie" Dutkin have been named to head coaching positions at Franklin high school, according to an announcement made public this week by the Franklin school board.

Uram who performed for the gridiron Canes in the early thirties succeeds Ken Wolfe as head football coach and will serve as an assistant basketball and track coach. Uram however will vacate his present role as basketball head, and step down in favor of Dutkin.

Dutkin, a 1936 high school court star at New Castle moves up to the head basketball position after three years as an assistant there. He will also assist in football and track.

Bessemer Tops Scotties, 4-2

Section Nine Race Ends In Deadlock

Bessemer high school defeated Union 4-2 Thursday afternoon at the Union high field to tie the Scotties for the Section Nine WPIAL baseball championship.

A playoff game will be played next week, it is reported. The time and site have not yet been selected.

Phil DeArment went the distance for the Cementers and held the Scotties to seven hits. Chuck Yarletts went for Union and was touched for eight hits.

Bessemer scored the winning runs in the sixth inning, when Veltre singled, came home of Shuluga's double, and Shuluga rode in on Penwell's single.

The Cementers scored their first run when Pezzuolo's triple drove Veltre in. The second run came on a disputed balk.

Union scored its first tally on a Cementer error and its second on Bill Ahrens' round tripper.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Bessemer ... 100 102 0—	4	8	1
Union ..... 110 000 0—	2	7	1

Batteries: Bessemer—DeArment and Gagliano; Union—Yarletts and Lawrence.

Hairston Meets Cartier Tonight

Deaf-Mute Negro Favored To Win

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS)—Eugene (Silent) Hairston and Walter Cartier, a couple of middleweight championship aspirants, meet in the 10-round main event tonight at Madison Square Garden.

It is a return bout, and although Cartier was the winner by a close decision in their last fight on November 2, 1949, Hairston is favored.

The deaf-mute negro gave away eight and one-quarter pounds to Cartier in that bout, but both fighters are expected to enter the ring tonight at approximately the same weight.

Hairston has scored 15 wins in his last 16 bouts, including a win and loss to Kid Gavilan.

Cartier, who will be making his first start since December 4, has a string of 16 straight victories.

Biondi's Pick Up Season's First Win

Last night at Deshon Anex, the Biondi Bees defeated the DeCarbo Bombers of the American Legion league by a score of 6-0 for their first win of the pre-league play.

Marcotuli led the winners with a two-run triple and Caimino chipped in with two hits. Strehler and Vitale limited the losers to two hits.

Biondi's will enter a strong team in the American Legion league under the co-managership of Fuzzy Fazzone and Alfy Clark.

The team will practice Tuesday evening at 5:30 at Deshon Annex.

Tigers Are Losing Herbert To Army

DETROIT, May 11.—(INS)—Ray Herbert, the Detroit Tigers' leading hurler, will be inducted into the army May 16.

The 21-year-old righthander who came up from Toledo last fall has won four and lost none in relief roles so far this season.

Herbert's induction is another blow to the Tiger pitching staff which was weakened considerably by the loss of Art Houtteman, who also is in the army. Houtteman won 19 and lost 12 last year.

Both Herbert and Houtteman are products of Catholic Central high school and the Detroit sandlots.

Shenango Cops Section Title

Downs Princeton For Fifth Win

Shenango township high school cinched the championship of Section 10, WPIAL, baseball Thursday afternoon, as the Wildcats downed Princeton 14-0 at Deshon field for their fifth straight win.

Eddie Badger went the distance for Shenango in the abbreviated five inning game and gave up only one hit—a single by Purwell in the fifth.

Allen, Hiler and Badger had two hits apiece. Hiler had the only extra base hit—a triple. Shenango still has one section game remaining on its schedule.

Milwaukee May Get Franchise

Browns Through In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—(INS)—The St. Louis Browns, doormats of the American league, may be transferred to Milwaukee before the opening of the 1952 season.

This was reported yesterday by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which said details of the proposed shift had been worked out.

Bill and Charley Dewitt, controlling owners of the club, admitted that poor attendance might result in the move to Milwaukee and said they are waiting for an attractive price offer.

The newspaper named Frederick C. Miller, Milwaukee brewer, and Bill Veeck, former part-owner of the Cleveland Indians, as principals in the transfer plan.

First Christians Take Opening Day Lead In Church Golf

Jimmy Dart Scores Second Hole-In-One

Jimmy Dart, playing in the Church Golf league Thursday evening, scored the second hole-in-one of his golfing career on the 141-yard No. 11 hole at Castle Hills.

Jimmy used a four-iron to record his ace—the same club he used last year on the same hole to register his first hole-in-one.

He was playing in a foursome with Fred Scheppele, Jack Dagnon and Al Genkinger in the league match.

MacArthur Will See Ball Game

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS)—Former West Point outfielder Gen. Douglas MacArthur is going out to the ball game tonight.

The five star general, in his first informal appearance since his return to the United States, is scheduled to see the New York Giants play the Philadelphia Phillies at the Polo Grounds.

Gen. MacArthur, an ardent fan and a friend of the late John J. McGraw, who managed the New York club, is said to be a Giants rooter.

The general will be accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and Maj. Gen. Courtney and Col. Anthony Story of his staff.

DISMISSAL of Edward Lee from the Erie hatchery of the State Fish commission was blamed today by Commissioner C. A. French on "insubordination," according to a Harrisburgh dispatch.

Lee, a former per diem employe, has not been on the payroll since the beginning of May, according to French. He worked 72 hours in the last half of April.

Asked about the circumstances surrounding Lee's ouster, French said: "I'm not at liberty to discuss that. It's a commission affair and something not of interest to the public."

Asked when he would be at liberty to discuss the matter, he replied: "I don't know that I'll ever be."

French denied that the commission had "investigated" Lee but reported: "You can say that he was dismissed for insubordination."

Asked if he had been told by anyone to "keep quiet" about Lee's firing, French said "No".

He described Lee's ex-duties as counting fish eggs and "doing some patrol work around the bay."

Union High Athletic Dinner Date Changed To Thursday Night

Union high school athletic banquet, originally scheduled for Wednesday evening, May 16, has been changed to Thursday evening, May 17, it is announced.

Speaker at the dinner will be Len Casanova, head football coach at the University of Pittsburg. Tickets may be obtained from members of the school athletic department and various township merchants.

Four City Loop Games Sunday

All Games To Start At 2:30 P.M. D.S.T.

City Baseball league officials last night arranged to open the season at 2:30 p. m. DST Sunday on four plats, a fifth game having been postponed until Monday evening because Patton field is not ready.

The schedule follows:

Croton vs Lawrence Indies at Croton.

Elliotts vs Bessemer at Mahoningtown.

Fees vs Wampum at McClelland avenue.

Hillsville vs Universal at Hillsville.

DeCarbos and West Pittsburg will play at Scotland Lane at 6 p. m. Monday. No Sunday ball will be played at Scotland Lane this season.

Each of the 10 teams are permitted to carry 25 players, but none may be signed after May 22. No player can participate in a game unless his signed contract is presented 72 hours ahead of game time.

The team which wins the game is responsible for submitting a correct box score, with introductory story, immediately after the game, to The News.

Seven-inning games will be played at 6 p. m. week-days and nine-inning games on Sundays. Fast time will prevail.

Lawrence County Umpires association will have charge of umpiring.

Wampum, Bessemer and Hillsville are new teams in the circuit this season, owing to the County circuit ceasing play because of war conditions. The Elliotts have taken the place of St. Margarets.

FIELD NOT IN SHAPE

Patton field, home ground of DeCarbo Bombers is not yet in shape, hence DeCarbos and West Pittsburg, play Monday evening at Scotland Lane. There will be no game Sunday at Scotland Lane.

Amazing Pirates End First Tour In East With Victory

(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 11.—Who's afraid of the big, bad East?

The western clubs in the National league, who were supposed to be lambs thrust into the slaughter dens of eastern powerhouses, came away from their first inter-sectional encounters today in pretty fair shape. That is if you discount the flu-stricken St. Louis Cardinals.

The scoreboard showed 22 wins for the East in their home ballyards while the West won 18. And things might have been different if the New York Giants hadn't undergone a reversal of early season form.

Dickson Wins Fourth

The surprising Pittsburgh Pirates ended their first swing through the East on a happy note, the tail-enders suddenly turned third-placers downed the Phillies, 2 to 0 on a beautifully-pitched four-hitter by little Murry Dickson. The veteran righthander won his fourth game against one loss.

Boston's Johnny Sain continued to find the going tough. The tobacco-chewing big fellow was beaten by the Cincinnati Reds and Ewell Blackwell, 4 to 1 for his fourth loss in five decisions.

Dodgers Top Cubs

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers got his third victory after three unsuccessful tries. Large Donald rationed the Chicago Cubs to seven singles as the Brooks won out, 6 to 1 and moved into second place.

The Giants won their fourth straight by edging by the influenza-ridden Cardinals, 3 to 2. The Night Owls get their chance to howl tonight with all scheduled games undr the arcs.

Indians Trade Clark And Klein; Obtain Chapman

Veteran Outfielder Will Join Indians

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. — (INS)—The Philadelphia Athletics Thursday announced the trading of centerfielder Sam Chapman to the Cleveland Indians for outfielder Alfred A. (Allie) Clark and Louis (Chuck) Klein, a utility infielder.

Chapman, the A's star slugger for many years, currently was batting a sickly .169. Last season, Big Samo wound up with a .251 average, with 24 homers and 95 runs batted in.

Arthur Ehlers, A's general manager, said the deal was a straight player trade with no cash involved. It was obviously an attempt to bolster the last-place team's poor showing at the plate.

Clark, 27, was used mainly as a pinch hitter by the Indians. His best year came in 1948 when he hit .310 in 81 games for the Cleveland team.

Klein, 32, jumped from the St. Louis Cardinals to the Mexican league but was reinstated in 1949 by Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

Chapman's 14th Year

He starred for Los Angeles in the Pacific Coast league last season, belting 14 homers and batting in 76 runs for a .332 average in 97 games.

Chapman, an All-American football player in college days, is 35 years old and a native of Tiburon, Calif. He bats and throws right-handed, stands six feet one and weighs 190 pounds.

This was Sam's 14th season with the Athletics. He has expressed a desire to quit big-league baseball after this season and go into private business on the West Coast.

Athletics Deny Trade For Fain

PHILADELPHIA, May 11. — (INS)—The Philadelphia Athletics today squelched rumors that first baseman Ferris Fain would go to the New York Yankees in exchange for $40,000 and five players.

Yankee players reported involved are pitchers Tommy Byrne and Fred Sanford, first baseman Johnny Hopp, infielder Billy Johnson, and one other unidentified.

Commented general manager Arthur H. Ehlers: "I wouldn't consider a deal like that."

New Air Devices Outshine Radar

HILL AIR FORCE BASE, Utah —(INS)—Push-button warfare has graduated from kindergarten to first grade at the Air Force's Hill Base in Utah.

Technicians at the air material base are installing such things as "shoran," and "loran" in fighting aircraft.

The two "gadgets" are big brothers of old-fashioned radar, a child of World War II.

Shoran will permit a bombardier to "see" his target through darkness, fog or overcast.

Loran is used in conjunction with a ground set and will allow a pilot to find his position aloft almost anywhere in the world.

Both devices are fairly simple to operate—but not to install.

It requires almost 500 man-hours and 50 units of equipment, for example, to install the complete set of new radio and radar equipment in a B-26.

A B-29 requires twice as much equipment and installation requires 700 man-hours. Which means more than two weeks of work for eight skilled men.

UMPIRES TO MEET

Joseph Panella, secretary of the Lawrence County Umpires Association has announced a special meeting of the members for Friday night, May 11 in the YMCA. All members are urged to be present.

Radium purchased today will be only half as powerful in 1,680 years, scientists say.

QUESTIONS

1—Did an imported horse ever win the Kentucky Derby?

2—At the end of what round did Jess Willard's seconds throw in the towel during his fight with Jack Dempsey?

3—Did the Los Angeles Rams ever win a National Football league title?

HOOHEE?

I WAS an infielder when I first broke in with the Chicago Americans in 1918. However, it was as an outfielder that I achieved stature as a .300 hitter. My entire big league career was spent with the Chicago club.

ANSWERS

1—Once—Omar Khayyam, winner in 1917.
2—Third round.
3—Not for L. A. As a Cleveland team the Rams won in 1945.

New York Stocks

Stock Market Trend Is Lower

NEW YORK, May 11.—(INS)—The stock market continued to lose ground today in an extension of yesterday's decline. There was no great pressure to sell but lack of nearby support brought in some sharp losses in spots, a few issues were independently strong, however.

Warner Brothers Pictures sold off a point to 12⅛ on news that negotiations for a change in management through the sale of the stock owned by the controlling executives had fallen through. A block of 5,000 shares changed hands at the opening.

Curb stocks were spotty. Electric Bond & Share was up ⅛, Kaiser Frazer was up ⅛ and Humble Oil was off ⅝.

The bond market was irregular. Rails were generally lower and U. S. governments were unchanged.

Corn highlighted commodities with a gain of 1 cent a bushel. Wheat and cotton did little.

Neshannock School Directors Open Bids For Addition

Bids on contracts for the addition of two rooms to the Walmo school building were opened and read at a special meeting of the Neshannock township school board Thursday evening at the Walmo school.

No decision was made on the bids, however. Decision on the awarding of contracts is expected to be given at a meeting at a later date.

A good number of bids were received on each of the three contracts advertised for. They were construction, plumbing and heating and electrical work.

Gold Star Mothers Choose Delegates

Members of the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., Lawrence County Chapter 1, gathered at the American Legion Home on Wednesday.

Mrs. Margaret Church presented the flag, and pledge of allegiance was given by the members. Prayer by the chaplain, Mrs. Nellie Farrell.

It was announced that Saturday, May 12, will be visiting day at Deshon Hospital, and several of the mothers intend to be there.

During the meeting, delegates were named to attend the National Convention at the Statler Hotel, Washington, D. C., May 29 through June 3, Mrs. Mary Kennedy, Mrs. Catherine Flynn, Mrs. Emma McCuskey, and Mrs. Ruth Geer.

Next meeting at the Legion Home on Wednesday, June 13.

Four-H Officers Given Training

Meeting Held In East Brook School

Officers of the various 4-H clubs of the county gathered at East Brook high school, Thursday evening for a training session, which proved instructive in the duties of the club officers. There were 135 in attendance.

County Agent L. C. Dayton presided, and following a short period of group singing, the different groups were divided, and given instruction in their vairous duties.

W. S. Jefferies, assistant state 4-H club director, took charge of the presidents and vice-presidents; William W. McComb, the song leaders; Miss Patricia M. Kelley, the secretaries; John H. Holbert, the game leaders; and Charles E. Allen, of The News, the news reporters.

After the instruction period, the groups were again divided and model meetings were held.

Farm Real Estate Values Take Leap

HARRISBURG, May 11.—(INS)—Pennsylvania farm real estate values were reported Thursday by the State Department of Agriculture to have jumped 15 per cent during the year ended last March 1.

Secretary Miles Horst blamed "strong inflationary forces in economy" and pointed out that eight per cent of the rise occurred in the last five months of the reported year. The national average for the year was 14 per cent.

Horst issued the results of a national survey which stated that the increase in farm land prices has been strongest where prospects for a high farm income this year and later appear most promising.

"Increases of 15 to 20 per cent have occurred in the past year in the area extending from Ohio westward to South Dakota and Nebraska and in a number of other states outside these areas including Florida, Texas, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Arizona," the report stated.

Voluntary farm real estate sales, Horst said, showed the first upturn in three years during the period reported.

Philadelphia Board Wants Educational Television Network

PHILADELPHIA, May 11—(INS)—The Philadelphia Board of Education has asked the Pennsylvania superintendent of public instruction to establish a network of educational television stations throughout Pennsylvania.

The request came from board president, Walter Biddle Saul who yesterday asked the Federal Communications Commission to assign a television channel to the board of education for educational purposes.

Dr. Francis B. Haas, Pennsylvania superintendent of public instruction, was quoted in Harrisburg as saying there was a definite possibility the state might sponsor an educational chain of stations.

MAY PLAN TO RETIRE

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Marshall indicated today that Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, may be thinking of retiring.

The matter came up in the Senate's MacArthur hearings when Marshall was asked about a magazine article by Bradley. Marshall said it was "not cleared by me" and he has only just begun to read it. The secretary added:

"I know this: that Gen. Bradley was talking to me about his date of retirement, and I think he was considering the publication of the matter on his retirement."

The word, "housewife," first appeared in English literature as early as 1225, in the form of "huswif".

Madonna Sodality Crowning Sunday

Madonna Sodality will receive Holy Communion in the body with their mothers at the 8:00 o'clock Mass on Sunday, May 13.

At this time the children of the parish will receive their First Holy Communion.

The Crowning of the Blessed Virgin Mary will take place at 2:00 o'clock, with the Sodality and the children, who received their First Communion, participating. Little Katherine Kusnierz will be the May Queen with little John Hudak and Carol Presnar as her attendants.

Receptions of new candidates into the Sodality will take place. Those who will be received are Ann Golba and Dorothy Jendrysik. The children who received their First Communion will receive the Scapular of Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, during services.

A Capuchin Father from Butler will deliver the sermon. Rev. Fr. Edward Pikulik will give the benediction.

Immediately following the services a program will be given and a luncheon served by the Sodalists in the church hall for all the mothers in the parish. Miss Dorothy Brincko, prefect, is in charge

Ligonier Polo Club Will Open May 30

LIGONIER, Pa., May 11.—(INS)—The Ligonier Valley Polo club opens its 1951 season on May 30 at Poland, Ohio, one of two games scheduled away from home this year.

On June 3, the Ligonier poloists return to the Buckeye State to take on the Salem Polo club and then return for a 14-week stay at Thompson Field in Ligonier.

Rhode Island, the smallest state, is 48 miles from north to south, 36 miles from east to west.

Schuylkill River Cleanup Project Nearly Completed

HARRISBURG, May 11—(INS)—The $35,000,000 Schuylkill River clean-up program will be completed by the end of May when 150,000 cubic yards of culm are removed from a desilting pool.

Approximately 18,000,000 cubic yards of silt will have been removed from the Eastern Pennsylvania waterways by the end of the month, according to acting Forests and Waters Secretary M. F. Draemel. The last culm deposit will be removed from the Auburn pool in Schuylkill county.

Silt dredging began in September, 1948, on the Schuylkill above Norristown.

The federal government was pledged to similar cleanup operations on the lower half of the river but has pigeonholed its program for announced economy reasons.

REAL ESTATE FOR

Abolition Of Price And Wage Controls Demand Of Miners

WASHINGTON, May 11.—(INS)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers' Union has demanded the abolition of all price and wage controls as "entirely unworkable and unnecesary."

The 25-man UMW Executive Board adopted a resolution calling upon labor and industry to join in opposing President Truman's request for a two-year extension of the Controls Act which expires June 30.

The board asailed the act as carrying "almost unparalleled and unlimited" delegation of powers to the president.

It said orders issued by the various stablization agencies have overwhelmed and confused industry and labor and worked contrary to the original purpose, which was to curb inflation.

In addition, the UMW charged that the law "is shot full of provisions allowing for discrimination and inequities favoring industry and big business and weighted by spirit and letter against labor and the vast number of American citizens.

The organization assailed the newly-created 18-man Wage Stabilization board and the Office of Price Administration. It declared that the ywould only "divert upon the American people and all segments of business and labor an iron collar of political and governmental controls leading inexorably to a socialistic and paternalistic way of life."

Young Socialites Held For Court In Marine's Death

PITTSBURGH, May 11.—(INS)—Four young socialites were being held for the grand jury today in connection with the death of a marine combat veteran who leaped from a bridge to win a $50 bet.

Ordered held yesterday on a charge of manslaughter were Nancy Waddell, of suburban Crafton and a student at Pennsylvania College for Women; George Frick, 23, and James Blair, 23, both of fashionable Sewickley, and John Joy Edson IV, 23, of Edgeworth.

Testimony at the inquest indicated that the marine veteran, Gilber Hays, 26, of Sewickley, was visibly intoxicated when he left a Sewickley club with four young people to jump from the Sewickley bridge into the Ohio river to win a $50 bet.
